No. 3173P.H.—The 30th September 1921.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 35 of the Bengal Agricultural and Sanitary Improvement Act, 1920 (Bengal Act VI of 1920), the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) are pleased to make the following rules :—

Rules.

1. For the purpose of determining the cost of a work as defined in section 2, clause (2) (e), interest, if charged, shall be calculated—

(a) in the case of a recoverable deposit or advance made by a local authority or person, at such rates and from and to such dates as may be prescribed for a loan taken from Government under the Local Authorities Loans Act, 1914 (IX of 1914) or the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 (XIX of 1883), respectively, so far as may be practicable, as if it were such a loan ;

(b) in the case of a recoverable advance made direct by Government without recourse either to the Local Authorities Loans Act, 1914 (IX of 1914), or the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 (XIX of 1883), at such rate, not exceeding that charged for loans under those Acts, as may be fixed by Government from the first day of the following year till the end of the period fixed by Government for the complete repayment of the advance. No interest, other than interest leviable under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913, shall be charged on overdue instalments.

2. If the estimated cost of the work involved in a scheme exceeds Rs. 50,000, such scheme shall be deemed to be a major scheme.

3. The Collector may certify after consulting the Superintending Engineer through the Executive Engineer under sub-clause (iii) of clause (7) of section 2 that a scheme which affects any other scheme or a tidal or other important river, Government canal, public embankment or railway should be treated as a major scheme although the total estimated cost does not exceed the limit prescribed in rule 2.

Provided that if the Collector disagrees with the Superintending Engineer, he shall refer the matter to the Local Government for orders and shall certify the scheme in accordance with such orders.

4. The notice under section 6 shall be in the form given in schedule A and shall be published in the manner laid down in rule 19.

5. In minor schemes the Collector shall, as soon as possible after the expiry of the period fixed by the notice published under section 6, fix a date and place for considering the objections or suggestions received in regard to such scheme and shall inform the persons making the objections or suggestions as well as the applicant accordingly. It shall not be necessary for the Collector to record statements of witnesses in detail, but the Collector shall make such brief memorandum of evidence as he may deem necessary.

6. When a minor scheme is accepted by the Collector under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 8 or when a major scheme is accepted by the Committee under section 10, the Collector or the Committee shall at the same time determine—

(1) how the work is to be financed, i.e.,—

(a) whether the working cost should be advanced in the first instance by the applicant ; or

(b) whether after reference to the Local Government or a local authority, the cost may be advanced by the Local Government or local authority or jointly between them ; or

(c) whether the cost should be provided for partly under (a) and partly under (b) ; and

(2) how the total cost should be distributed, i.e., what proportion of the cost shall be ultimately met by (a) the applicant, (b) the Local Government, (c) any local authority, and (d) the landlords and tenants collectively of the local area

Provided that no local authority shall be called upon to advance or meet the cost or any portion thereof unless such local authority is the applicant or has agreed to advance or meet such cost.

N.B.—The cost may be advanced by the applicant or by a local authority, by taking a loan from Government under the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 (XIX of 1883), or the Local Authorities Loans Act, 1914 (IX of 1914), as the case may be.

7. (1) The Committee appointed under section 9 shall consist of not less than ten members, excluding the Collector, of whom at least half shall be selected by the District Board and other local authorities concerned from amongst themselves, and the remainder shall be representatives of the land-owning and cultivating interests of the local area to which the scheme relates:

Provided that the Commissioner may add representatives of other interests, e.g., a railway, if involved in the scheme:

Provided also that if the District Board or other local authorities do not select the number of representatives allotted to them by the Commissioner, the Commissioner shall fill up the vacancy or vacancies in such manner as seems to him fit.

(2) Where several local authorities are concerned the Commissioner shall determine how the number of representatives allotted to the District Board and the local authorities shall be distributed amongst those bodies.

8. (1) As soon as possible after the appointment of the Committee the Collector shall fix a date and place for the meeting of the Committee and inform the members as well as the persons making the objections and suggestions and the applicant accordingly.

(2) At least ten days' notice of all meetings (except adjourned meetings) shall be given to every member.

(3) No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless such meeting has been called by the Chairman nor unless a quorum shall be present.

(4) A quorum shall be a number being not less than one-third of the entire number of members.

(5) If, at the time appointed for a meeting, or within half an hour thereafter, a quorum is not present, the meeting shall stand adjourned to some future day to be appointed by the President and three days' notice of such adjourned meeting shall be given. The members present at such adjourned meeting shall form a quorum, whatever their number may be.

(6) The Chairman shall preside at every meeting of the Committee, but in case of his absence at the time of holding a meeting the members present may choose one of their number to be President of such meeting.

(7) It shall not be necessary for the Committee to record statements of witnesses in detail, but it shall cause to be made such brief memorandum of evidence as it may deem necessary.

(8) Questions at any meeting of the Committee shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present: and in case of an equal division, the opinion of the Chairman shall prevail.

9. The map to be submitted by the Engineer under section 17, clause (b), shall ordinarily be to a scale of one inch to the mile and shall show the extent of the area benefited where recovery is to be effected from the landlords and tenants of that area. It shall also show in different colours, so far as possible, the degree of benefit derived or estimated to be derived by the different parts of the area, if there is a substantial difference in such degree of benefit. For this purpose there shall not ordinarily be more than four degrees of benefit in the classification of land, such as 16 annas, 12 annas, 8 annas and 4 annas.

10. The map referred to in section 18, sub-section (2), shall be published at the same time that the order of apportionment under section 18, sub-section (1), clause (iii), is published by keeping a copy of the same open for public inspection for a period of not less than 30 days in the office of the Collector or the Subdivisional Officer, as may be found convenient, and of the District Board or other local authority concerned. The fact of such publication shall be also notified along with the publication of the said order of apportionment.

11. In apportioning the share of cost under section 18, sub-section (1), clause (iii), the Collector shall determine—

(1) Whether and, if so, how the total cost recoverable from landlords and tenants shall be allocated over the different areas as may have been classified according to the degree of benefit on the map referred to in rule 9.

(2) What proportion of the cost shall be borne by the raiyats taken together and what by the landlords of all grades together. For this purpose a landlord in khas possession of any land shall be treated both as landlord and raiyat.

(3) What should be the basis of the apportionment. Area shall ordinarily be adopted as a basis if a record-of-rights has been prepared or revised; but the apportionment may be made on the basis of cess payable under the Cess Act, 1880, or on the profits of landlords or on the chaukidari tax under the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870, or on the union rate under the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, or on any other basis where on account of intricate subinfeudation or for any other reason it appears more convenient to adopt such different basis. In the case of non-agricultural lands or premises benefited by a scheme relating to sanitary improvement the apportionment shall ordinarily be made on the basis of the municipal tax payable in respect of such lands or premises under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, or the chaukidari tax under the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870, or the union rate under the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, as the case may be. In all cases the degree of benefit derived or estimated to be derived shall be borne in mind.

(4) How the landlords' share shall be divided amongst the different classes of landlords. For this purpose the Collector shall take into consideration the extent of the interest of such landlords in the lands benefited, the rent payable whether it is fixed in perpetuity or not, and, where the tenures are for limited terms of years, the unexpired periods of such terms.

Explanation.—Where the area basis is adopted calculations may be made from the lowest grade upwards where there are several grades of landlords in the following manner :—

(a) Permanent tenure-holders holding at rents fixed in perpetuity, e.g., patnidars, or rent-free holders shall pay the whole of the landlord's share.

(b) Other permanent tenure-holders shall pay three-fourths of the landlord's share.

(c) Temporary tenure-holders shall pay as follows :—

(i) In cases where the lease has 16 years or more to run the lessee shall pay three-fourths and his landlord one-fourth of the landlord's share.

(ii) In cases where the lease has over two years and under 16 years to run, the lessee shall pay such proportion of three-fourths as the unexpired number of years of his lease bears to 16.

(iii) In cases where the lease has 2 years or under to run, the landlord of the lessee shall pay the whole of the landlord's share.

(iv) If there is no current lease or no fixed term, the landlord and the lessee shall each pay half the landlord's share.

(v) The remaining period of the lease shall be reckoned in each case from the close of the agricultural year in which the statement and particulars referred to in section 18, sub-section (2), are published.

Illustration.—In a case in which the recoverable cost-rate is Rs. 9 per acre and it is decided that the share of the raiyat shall be Rs. 4 and that of the landlord Rs. 5, the rate may be divided as below in two possible cases of subinfeudation :—

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

TRADE AFTER THE WAR (IMPERIAL PREFERENCE).

RESOLUTION.

The following papers are published for general information :—

I.

Despatch to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 16, dated the 21st April 1921, regarding fiscal autonomy.

We have the honour to report for your information that a Resolution was passed in the Council of State on the 23rd February last in the following terms :—

> "This Council recommends to the Governor General in Council that His Majesty's Government be addressed through the Secretary of State with a prayer that the Government of India be granted full fiscal autonomy subject to the provisions of the Government of India Act."

2. The last ten words of this Resolution were substituted on the motion of our late Colleague Sir George Barnes for the words "under the direction of the Indian Legislature" which appeared in the Resolution as moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Lalubhai Samaldas. We were unable to accept the Resolution in its original form as it proposed that in fiscal matters the Government of India should be subject only to the control of the Indian Legislature. We regarded this proposal as being inconsistent with the provisions of the Government of India Act. The Resolution as amended indicates the agreement of the Council of State with the views expressed on the subject of fiscal autonomy by the Joint Select Committee in its remarks on Clause 33 of the Government of India Bill. The Joint Committee pointed out that fiscal autonomy could not be guaranteed to India by statute without limiting the ultimate power of Parliament to control the administration of India and without limiting the power of veto which vests in the Crown. It took the view that fiscal autonomy could be assured to India only by the acknowledgment of a convention, and it expressed the opinion that, in order that a convention of this kind might grow up, the Secretary of State should, as far as possible, avoid interference when the Government of India and the Legislature were in agreement and that his intervention, when it did take place, should be limited to safeguarding the international obligations of the Empire or any fiscal arrangements within the Empire to which His Majesty's Government was a party.

3. We request that the Resolution may be laid before His Majesty's Government.

II.

Despatch from His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 70-Revenue, dated the 30th June 1921.

Resolution of the Council of State regarding fiscal autonomy.

I have received and noted on behalf of His Majesty's Government the Despatch of Your Excellency's Government, No. 16 (Department of Commerce), dated 21st April 1921, which communicated the Resolution passed in the Council of State on 23rd February 1921, recommending that His Majesty's Government should be addressed with a prayer that the Government of India be granted full fiscal autonomy subject to the provisions of the Government of India Act.

2. In this connection I would refer to my reply to the deputation from Lancashire received at the India Office on 23rd March 1921, forwarded with my Despatch No. 44 (Revenue), dated the 21st April 1921, from which it will appear that I have, on behalf of His Majesty's Government, accepted the principle recommended by the Joint Committee in their report on clause 33 of the Government of India Bill.

III.

Extract from the reply of the Secretary of State to the deputation from Lancashire on the Indian Import Duties on Cotton Goods, received at the India Office on the 23rd March 1921.

Now the last point that I want to draw your attention to is this. You gentlemen, have quoted to me from one part of the room after another what happened in 1917; but I venture with great respect to point out to you that you have omitted the equally important events of 1919. This whole question was dealt with in 1919 when the Government of India Bill was under discussion. At the Joint Committee of both Houses which sat upon that Bill one of the members of the Committee moved an amendment to the Bill, that there should be no interference with any fiscal measure proposed by the Government of India. This was rejected on the ground that it was constitutionally impossible. The Joint Committee reported on this matter to both Houses of Parliament, and the Joint Committee's Report is so important that I venture, although it must be familiar to you, to read it to you again. "The Committee have given most careful consideration"—this was what Lord Selborne's Committee said—"to the relations of the Secretary of State with the Government of India, and through it with the Provincial Governments. In the relations of the Secretary of State with the Governor-General in Council the Committee are not of opinion that any statutory change can be made, so long as the Governor-General remains responsible to Parliament; but in practice the conventions which now govern these relations may wisely be modified to meet fresh circumstances caused by the creation of a Legislative Assembly with a large elected majority. In the exercise of his responsibility to Parliament, which he cannot delegate to anyone else, the Secretary of State may reasonably consider that only in exceptional circumstances should he be called upon to intervene in matters of purely Indian interest where the Government and the Legislature of India are in agreement. This examination of the general proposition leads inevitably to the consideration of one special case of non-intervention. Nothing is more likely to endanger the good relations between India and Great Britain than a belief that India's fiscal policy is dictated from Whitehall in the interests of the trade of Great Britain. That such a belief exists at the moment there can be no doubt. That there ought to be no room for it in the future is equally clear. India's position in the Imperial Conference opened the door to negotiation between India and the rest of the Empire, but negotiation without power to legislate is likely to remain ineffective. A satisfactory solution of the question can only be guaranteed by the grant of liberty to the Government of India to devise those tariff arrangements which seem best fitted to India's needs as an integral portion of the British Empire. It cannot be guaranteed by Statute without limiting the ultimate power of Parliament to control the administration of India, and without limiting the power of veto which rests in the Crown; and neither of these limitations finds a place in any of the Statutes in the British Empire. It can only therefore be assured by an acknowledgment of a convention. Whatever be the right fiscal policy for India, for the needs of her consumers as well as for her manufacturers, it is quite clear that she should have the same liberty to consider her interests as Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa. In the opinion of the Committee, therefore, the Secretary of State should as far as possible avoid interference on this subject when the Government of India and its Legislature are in agreement, and they think that his intervention, when it does take place, should be limited to safeguarding the international obligations of the Empire or any fiscal arrangements within the Empire to which His Majesty's Government is a party."

Now these are very strong words which, except for some timely warning by my honourable friend the Member for Oldham, almost passed unchallenged in the House of Commons; but when the Bill came for third reading to the House of Lords, Lord Curzon, speaking on behalf of His Majesty's Government, pointed out the great change which had been instituted in these matters by what amounted to the grant of fiscal autonomy to India. I will read you his words if you like, but I am sure they must be familiar to most of you, and I do not want to waste your time. I can paraphrase them in the words of one of the speakers this afternoon: the people of India are plain humble people and they regard a promise as a promise; and, after that Report by an authoritative Committee of both Houses and Lord Curzon's promise in the House of Lords, it was absolutely impossible for me to interfere with the right which I believe was wisely given and which I am determined to maintain—to give to the Government of India the right to consider the interests of India first, just as we, without any complaint from any other parts of the Empire, and the other parts of the Empire without any complaint from us, have always chosen the tariff arrangements which they think best fitted for their needs, thinking of their own citizens first. Nothing could be worse for what I have set my heart upon—India as a willing contented partner in the British Empire—nothing could be worse from that point of view than to promise her through the mouth of Parliament these rights and liberties, and then, when they are only accidentally applied, because of the sudden need for revenue which was never foreseen before the fall in the exchange took place suddenly, to say: "We made a mistake in giving you this right; we are now going to do the very thing that we said we would not do—interfere with your fiscal arrangements for the benefit of the British trade."

ORDERED that a copy be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1921-22.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1919-20, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6·3 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—At the beginning of the season the weather was generally favourable for the preparation of the land. In the first half of March, however, wet weather somewhat interfered with the sowings of the crops in the eastern and northern districts, but the dry weather which followed until the first week of April enabled a larger area to be brought under cultivation in those districts. In the western districts, on the other hand, insufficient rain in March and in the middle of April generally hampered the sowing operations, with the result that the area under cultivation has been reduced. The rainfall in May and June was below the normal throughout the Presidency, and the growth of the crops was affected especially in the western districts. The early rise of rivers in June and excessive rain and floods in July considerably damaged the crops in the low-lying tracts of North and East Bengal. But for the damage caused by floods the outturn of autumn rice would have been a highly satisfactory one.

Acreage.—The total area sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 6,393,500 acres as against 5,922,000 acres and 5,939,400 acres (revised), respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. Of this, the area under autumn rice is estimated at 5,542,200 acres this year as against 5,088,200 and 5,113,600 acres (revised) in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

The increase in area is attributed mainly to decreased cultivation of jute and to the high price of food-stuffs.

Outturn.—According to the district officers' estimates, the outturn of the different bhadoi crops for the province works out to 81 per cent. of the normal against 84 and 86 per cent. reported, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. Autumn rice, the most important of the bhadoi crops, shows an outturn of 81 per cent. of the normal for the province this year against 85 and 86 per cent. in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

24-PARGANAS.	Bhadoi paddy (autumn rice).	73,400	64,200	49,000	100	83	April to June. Late	The decrease in area was due to want of rain at sowing time. The weather has not been favourable. The outturn is below the normal owing to damage caused by drought in Basirhat and by insects in parts of Barrackpore subdivision.

NADIA.	Bhadoi paddy (autumn rice).	491,100	491,400	467,600	92	67	Middle of April. Almost normal.	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rain at the sowing season. Unequal distribution of rainfall has retarded the growth of the crops and has affected the outturn which is expected to fall below the normal. The rainfall conditions have been favourable now, but it is too late for the bhadoi crops.

MURSHIDABAD.	Bhadoi paddy (autumn rice).	220,700	192,800	155,300	83	67	April to June. Late	The decrease in area is due to scanty rainfall at sowing time and also to the fact that figures for the thanas of Jellingi and Hariharpara have not yet been received. The weather was unfavourable at the beginning, but subsequently turned favourable. The outturn is below the normal owing to serious damage done by insect-pests in the Lalbagh subdivision. Slight damage was also done by flood in the Jangipur subdivision.

The weather was favourable at the outset, but subsequently for want of rain the growth of the crops was retarded to some extent. From the middle of July, however, the conditions, in the areas not affected by flood, have been favourable up till now. The outturn is below the normal owing to considerable damage caused by flood in thanas Ratua, Harishchandrapur, Kharba, Bamangola, Malda and Gomastapur. In Ratua and Harishchandrapur, the damage is estimated to be about 14 annas and 13 annas respectively; elsewhere it is about 8 annas.

MYMENSINGH.	Bhadoi paddy (autumn rice).	390,600	478,000	745,000	81	75	Middle of April. Normal.	The increase in area is due to increased price of paddy and to low price of jute and also to adoption of settlement figures for Kishoreganj, Netrakona and Jamalpur subdivisions. The weather was favourable at sowing time, but subsequently it was not so for want of rains. Damage by flood to the extent of about 25 per cent. is reported from Kishoreganj and Netrakona subdivisions and of 5 per cent. from Tangail subdivision.

The increase in area under bhadoi paddy is due to decrease in jute cultivation and the decrease under bhadoi fruits and vegetables, etc., was due to insufficient rain at sowing time. The weather was favourable at sowing time, but sudden rise of water has damaged about 12 annas of the crops in the Goalundo subdivision. Elsewhere the crops have also been damaged to some extent. First Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1921-22.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1919-20, the area under Winter Rice in Bengal has represented some 19·7 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India]

Character of the season.—Pre-monsoon showers were generally sufficient for the preparatory tillage. Rainfall in May and June, though below the normal, however, allowed sufficient moisture to be retained in the soil. Consequently the sowings of broadcast paddy which commenced at the usual time finished favourably especially in the eastern and northern districts. A full area was, therefore, sown with this variety. During the early period of the monsoon, drought prevailed in the western districts and paddy seedlings suffered in the high land tracts. As a result also transplantation in those tracts proceeded slowly during July, but good rainfall in the end of August facilitated operations a good deal. In the eastern and northern districts, on the other hand, abundant rainfall during these two months enabled a large area to be brought under cultivation. Some damage to broadcast paddy was caused by excessive rain and the sudden rise of rivers in certain low land tracts of North and East Bengal. The present outlook is, so far, satisfactory, on the whole.

Acreage.—According to the figures returned by district officers the total area under the winter rice crop is 15,187,000 acres, as compared with 15,319,500 and 15,343,800 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. The decrease is to be attributed chiefly to want of rain at sowing time in the western districts.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns appended it will be seen that six districts expect a normal crop, seventeen districts report a crop between 73 and 99 and the remaining four districts return between 58 and 70 per cent. of the normal. According to the above estimates, the provincial outturn works out to 88 per cent. as against 83 and 87 per cent. of the normal respectively in the first and final forecasts of last year.

Date by which the sowing of broadcasted winter rice commenced this year, and whether that date was early normal or late.	Date by which the transplanting of winter rice commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.

	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
24-Parganas ...	1,041,500	813,900	725,700	83	92	May; normal ...	July; normal ...	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rain and to acquisition of large areas for mills and brickfield. The weather was not favourable at sowing time, but has since been favourable.
Nadia ...	136,800	180,900	210,300	62	58	Middle of April; normal.	Middle of June; normal.	The increase in area is due to revision of estimates based on settlement records for several thanas. As insufficiency and unequal distribution of rainfall have been felt all through, the outturn is expected to fall much below the normal. The outturn may yet improve with favourable season.
Murshidabad ...	351,400	296,500	290,800	67	92	June ...	Beginning of August (generally late) except in Lalbagh subdivision where the transplanting commenced from the beginning of July (early).	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rainfall. The weather was unfavourable at sowing time, but has subsequently been favourable. The outturn is below the normal owing to late transplanting.
Jessore ...	568,100	459,100	463,900	75	85	April and May; normal.	June and July; normal.	The increase in area is due to decreased cultivation of jute and to high price of paddy. The weather has been favourable for the broadcasted but unfavourable in some places for the transplanted crops. It is on the whole favourable. About 20 per cent. of the crop has been damaged by flood in the Narail and about 25 per cent. by insect-pests and want of timely rain in the Magura and Jhenidah subdivisions.
Khulna ...	820,200	710,500	683,400	92	100	June; normal ...	Middle of July; normal.	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rain. The weather was not favourable up to the end of July, but sufficient rain in August has improved the condition of the crop. The overflow of saline water has damaged to some extent the seedlings and plants in Paikgachha, Assasuni and Kaliganja police-stations. The outturn is still expected to be normal.
Burdwan ...	874,800	677,700	662,700	83	75	End of June; normal.	End of July; late	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rain. The weather was not favourable at sowing time, but has since been favourable. The outturn is expected to fall below the normal owing to late rainfall.
Birbhum ...	604,600	563,000	525,800	67	100	June; normal ...	Ditto ...	The decrease in area is due to want of timely rain. The weather has been favourable.
Bankura ...	510,800	595,000	644,000	83	92	.....	Ditto ...	The increase in area is due to revision of estimates based on settlement records. The weather has been fairly favourable. The transplantation is late owing to late monsoon.
Midnapore ...	1,537,100	1,617,400	1,396,500	100	100	End of June; late	Ditto ...	The decrease in area is due to insufficient rainfall at sowing time. The weather was not favourable at sowing time owing to drought, but sufficient rainfall since the end of July has helped the growth of the crop. The outturn is expected to be normal if the October rainfall be sufficient.
Hooghly ...	276,700	209,300	197,300	100	75	End of July; late	August (late) in Sadar and Arambagh and end of July (late) in Arambagh subdivisions.	The decrease in area is due to increased cultivation of aus paddy and also to want of rain at sowing time. The weather was unfavourable at sowing time, but has since been favourable. The outturn is expected to fall below the normal owing to belated transplantation for unfavourable condition of weather and want of timely rain, which has caused damage to the extent of about 6 annas in the Arambagh subdivision.
Howrah ...	125,200	119,700	123,400	100	100	Beginning of June; late.	Middle of July; late.	The increase in area is due to decreased cultivation of jute. The weather has on whole been favourable though it was not so at the sowing time for want of rain.
Rajshahi ...	822,700	63[illegible],000	695,300	75	83	April; normal ...	Latter part of July; normal.	The increase in area is due to extensive cultivation of paddy owing to fall in price of jute. The weather has been fairly favourable. The damage to some extent is reported from Nator subdivision.
Dinajpur ...	1,120,300	819,400	905,500	60	75	Middle of May; normal.	Middle of June; normal.	The increase in area is due to timely rainfall and to failure of the crop last year. The weather has been fairly satisfactory.

Subsequent weather has been fair. The outturn is expected to fall below the normal owing to damage by flood to lowland crop.
Darjeeling ...	65,200	25,800	24,600	92	83	April ; nor ...	1st week of July ...	The decrease in area is due to excessive rain. The weather has not been favourable owing to incessant heavy rainfall, which has caused some damage.
Rangpur ...	822,300	581,400	608,930	81·4	92	Middle of May ; normal.	Beginning of July ; normal.	The increase in area is due to copious rainfall during the time of transplantation. The weather has been fairly favourable. Some damage has been caused to the crop on char lands. Want of rain throughout the month of August has caused the outturn to fall below the normal.
Bogra ...	303,000	445,000	448,000	80	70	March ; normal ...	July ; normal ...	The increase in area is due to decreased cultivation of jute. The outturn is anticipated to be low owing to want of sufficient rain at the time of transplantation and thereafter. The recent rains have slightly improved the prospects.
Pabna ...	506,000	401,600	400,000	83	67	By the middle of April ; normal.	By the beginning September ; normal.	Slight decrease in area was due to unfavourable weather at sowing time in the Serajganj subdivision. The weather was not favourable at sowing time and during the period of growth owing to drought and sudden and untimely rise of the river Jamuna which is likely to reduce the outturn.
Malda ...	326,200	248,400*	206,300	58	67	Middle of July ; late.	Beginning of August ; late.	The decrease in area was due to want of rainfall at sowing time. Unfavourable weather from sowing time till the middle of August retarded the growth of the crops. Subsequently the weather has been favourable. The outturn is expected to be much below the normal owing to considerable damage done by sudden flood and want of timely rainfall.
Dacca ...	647,900	665,300	703,900	110	99	End of March to April.	Late in July ; normal.	The increase in area is due to decrease in jute cultivation and to high price of paddy. The weather has been favourable. Slight damage has been done by sudden and early flood to lowland crop.
Mymensingh ...	1,455,500*	939,700	1,183,600	80	73	April to June ; normal.	July and August ; normal.	The increase in area is due to adoption of settlement figures. The weather has been generally fair. Incessant rain at sowing time caused damage to the extent of 23 per cent. In Tangail the damage by flood is about 17 per cent. and in Kishorganj about a fifth of the crops. The outturn is expected to be below the normal owing to sudden rise of water.
Faridpur ...	770,100	745,200	760,500	100	89	March and April ; normal.	.....	The increase in area is due to decrease in area under jute. The weather has not been favourable for the growth of the crop in the Goalundo subdivision. Some damage has been done by the sudden rise of water. Hence the outturn is below the normal.
Bakarganj ...	1,200,000	1,316,100	1,100,000	100	100	April and May ; normal.	Middle of August ; late.	The weather was not favourable at the beginning for want of sufficient rain. Subsequently the flood at the end of July has damaged about four annas of the seedlings. The broadcast paddy too is slightly damaged. The present weather is fair and the growth of the crop is fairly good.
Chittagong ...	418,400	421,300	421,800	100	92	May to July ; normal.	July and August ; normal.	The weather has been seasonable and the growth of the crop fair.
Tippera ...	787,000	787,000	796,400	83	83	April ; normal ...	August ; normal ...	The increase in area is due to decreased cultivation of jute. The weather has been favourable. Slight damage has been done by flood and insect-pests, which has reduced the outturn.
Noakhali ...	705,000*	630,000	630,000	100	100	Ditto ...	July and August ; normal.	The weather has been favourable and a normal outturn is expected.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Sugarcane crop of Bengal, 1921-22.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1919-20, the area under sugarcane in Bengal has represented some 8·4 per cent. of the total area under sugarcane in British India.]

Character of the season.—At the time of planting, the weather was unfavourable in the deltaic tracts owing to absence of rain, while elsewhere timely rainfall facilitated the operation. Insufficient rainfall in May and June considerably affected the growth in the Western districts, but the crop was not much affected in the rest of the Presidency. Subsequent favourable weather has, however, improved the situation. Damage by drought is reported from Murshidabad, Burdwan, Midnapore and Hooghly, and by heavy rain and flood from Jalpaiguri, Pabna, Faridpur and Bakarganj. Injury by insect-pests is reported from parts of Chittagong and Faridpur only. On the whole, the crop is expected to be fairly satisfactory.

Acreage.—The total area planted with sugarcane for the province this year is reported to be 220,600 acres against 219,500 acres and 218,800 acres reported respectively in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—According to estimates of District Officers, the provincial outturn works out to 83 per cent. of the normal this year against 90 and 88 per cent. respectively in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Second Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1921-22.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1919-20, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·3 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.]

THERE are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State and to a small extent in other districts. The "late" crop is grown in Bankura, Midnapore and Mymensingh.

Character of the season.—The early crop, though it suffered in the early stages through absence of rain, has subsequently recovered, and its present condition is reported to be fairly good.

The outlook of the late crop, so far, is reported as generally promising.

Area sown.—The area sown with early cotton is reported to be 63,374 acres this year against 68,448 acres reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Of the late crop 1,110 acres are reported to have been sown up to date against 307 acres reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

RESOLUTION ON THE FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BENGAL SMOKE-NUISANCES COMMISSION FOR THE PERIOD FROM APRIL TO DECEMBER 1920.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 4TH OCTOBER 1921.

RESOLUTION—No. 3352Mne.

READ—

The fifteenth Annual Report of the Bengal Smoke-nuisances Commission for the period from April to December 1920.

The annual report of the Bengal Smoke-nuisances Commission used formerly to be for the official year. It was recently decided that the report should be for the calendar year. The present annual report therefore relates to the period from April to December 1920.

2. The Commission held nine meetings during the nine months under review for the transaction of their business.

3. The number of observations of smoke emission taken was 7,514 as against 9,943, and the number of factories visited for instruction, etc., was 1,995 against 3,288 during the year 1919-20.

4. The average emission of the smoke of the controlled grades expressed in terms of scale 6 has been reduced to 1·22 minutes in the hour from 1·23 minutes in the previous year. This is the lowest average on record. The Commission's efforts to reduce offensive smoke from oil-burning steamers during their stay in the Port continued to produce good results. At the instance of the Commission certain improved arrangements were adopted on some of these vessels resulting in the material reduction of smoke as well as in the saving of fuel.

Owing to the high price of coal, there was a recrudescence of the wasteful practice of making coke from raw coal in open heaps on the ground. The smoke thus created being emitted in great quantities at ground level causes great damage to health and property in the surrounding localities. The Commission propose to deal with this evil in collaboration with the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, and the owners of the grounds utilised for the purpose.

5. Plans of 56 installations were examined and passed during the period as compared with 54 in the previous year.

6. The number of complaints received from the general public was 48 against 58 in 1919-20. The Commission also dealt with many references from municipalities regarding chimneys, furnaces, etc. Offences were reported to owners of furnaces for departmental action in 707 cases with satisfactory results.

7. Statutory warnings were served in 15 cases, against 16 in the previous year. Only one prosecution was instituted as against 11 in 1919-20. This is the first time since the Bengal Smoke-nuisances Act, 1905, came into force that there was no prosecution of a factory. This result was achieved through the co-operation of the owners, the introduction of better installations and the general improvements in the system of working the furnaces.

8. The increase in the number of electric motors installed during the period under review is remarkable, being 318 against 168 in the previous year. A large number of gas appliances was also installed with a resulting diminution in the amount of smoke emitted.

9. The report shows that the Commission are making steady and satisfactory progress in the reduction of smoke-nuisances, which is a matter of great importance to public health. It is gratifying to note that the activities of the Commission generally met with the co-operation and appreciation of the public. The Governor in Council desires to thank the members of the Commission as well as Mr. Robson, the Chief Inspector, and his assistant for their successful administration of the department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Government of India, Department of Commerce; the Director of Industries, Bengal; the Commissioners of the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions; the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta; the Chairman, Corporation of Calcutta; the Chairman of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta; the Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce; Master, Calcutta Trades Association; the Honorary Secretary, Bengal National Chamber of Commerce; the Chairman of the City Improvement Trust, Calcutta; and the Municipal Department of this Government.

Ordered, also, that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. MARR,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 5th October 1921.

Summary.—During the week seasonable rain fell almost throughout the province. Preparatory tillage for spring crops and sowing of pulses continue. Weeding of winter paddy is progressing favourably in the western districts. Its prospects are expected to be good if the present state of weather continues during this month. The average price of common rice for the province has fallen by about 1·19 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

A preliminary inspection of the chassis may be applied for by the owner.

3. The following measurements and requirements for a motor-cab should be adhered to:—

(1) CHASSIS.—The wheel-base must in all cases be so proportioned that skidding or other improper movements shall be as far as possible avoided.

5. An applicant for a motor-cab driver's licence shall before receiving such licence, satisfy the Commissioner that he is acquainted with the principal places and streets in and around Calcutta and Howrah, that he has a thorough knowledge of the prescribed rates for hire and that he is in all respects a fit person to be the driver of a motor-cab.

The taxi-meter must be fitted to and operated from a "non-driving wheel". Every taxi-meter when in use shall be locked and sealed, so that it may not be tampered with.

(2) Every taxi-meter shall be fitted with an indicator or handle in the form of a flag on which shall be printed the words "for hire". The taxi-meter shall be so constructed that when the indicator is vertical the taxi-meter shall be out of action. Such indicator shall be so placed as to be clearly visible to any person outside of and in front of the vehicle, and to the hirer when inside.

(3) The vertical position of the indicator shall indicate that the vehicle is available for hire, and no driver shall without reasonable excuse refuse to accept a fare when the indicator is in the vertical position.

(4) Any owner, driver, attendant or other person who shall break or tamper in any way with the seal placed on the taxi-meter, or who shall, with intent to deceive, tamper with the taxi-meter or the driving mechanism thereof, shall be deemed to have committed a breach of this rule.

10. (1) No taxi-meter which has not been approved by the Commissioner shall be affixed to a motor-cab.

(2) Taxi-meters are only to be fitted in such positions and in such manner as may be approved by the Commissioner, the positions and manner to be determined by the construction of the motor-cab.

(3) A taxi-meter shall under no circumstances be used upon a motor-cab in connection with a wheel the circumference of which is different from that for which the meter has been designed, geared and tested.

(4) No taxi-meter which is in any way defective shall be used upon a motor-cab.

(5) No flexible or driving gears except such as are approved by the Commissioner may be used, and they must be so affixed that no part of the cable, etc., can be readily reached by an unauthorized person. All connections must be so made as to be capable of being sealed in an approved manner to prevent improper removal.

(6) The owner of a motor-cab of which the registration has expired or been cancelled shall forthwith either detach the taxi-meter, notifying the Commissioner in writing to that effect, or produce the motor-cab for renewal of the registration.

11. Every taxi-meter referred to in rule 9 shall after it is affixed to a motor-cab, whether for the first time or after repair or other readjustment, be submitted to the Commissioner or to such officer as he may empower in this behalf for the purpose of examination as to correctness of fittings, and of subjection to a practical road-test over a measured distance of one mile and a time-test of not less than half an hour. If found to be correct, the taxi-meter and its fittings shall then be sealed to the motor-cab in such a manner that it cannot be removed or tampered with without the seals being broken or removed.

12. Every taxi-meter shall, at the end of each period of six months (the first of such periods commencing from the date of the test referred to in rule 11), be submitted to a test similar to that prescribed by rule 11 :

Provided that every taxi-meter shall, at any time, if so required by the Commissioner, be submitted to him or to such officer as he may empower in this behalf, for the purpose of undergoing such test or any portion thereof.

13. The owner of every motor-cab shall cause to be kept in the cab, for the inspection of the public, a register in which the testing officer referred to in rule 11 shall, after each of the tests prescribed in rules 11 and 12, enter the date and result of such test.

14. Every motor-cab shall be provided with a light so placed as to illuminate the taxi-meter at night.

16. The driver of every motor-cab shall, as soon as he is hired and not before, set the taxi-meter in motion, and upon the termination of the hiring shall immediately stop the same. If he neglects or fails to do so, he shall be deemed to have committed a breach of this rule:

Provided that in the event of a motor-cab whilst hired being unable to proceed from any accident, mechanical derangement or tyre failure, either temporarily or otherwise, the driver shall at once stop the mechanism of the taxi-meter as against the hirer, and shall not re-start the same until such time as he is able to proceed. The hirer shall be liable to pay the fare up to the time of the stoppage.

17. A driver of a motor-cab shall, in the absence of reasonable cause to the contrary, proceed to the destination named by the hirer and by the shortest and quickest route.

18. The brakes of a motor-cab shall be so affixed as to be capable of easy application. At least one brake shall be so made as to be applied by the foot of the driver, and at least one shall act directly upon the road wheels.

19. All brake and steering connections secured with bolts shall have such bolts secured with nuts, the same to be locked or pinned.

20. Every motor-cab shall be capable of being readily steered, and able to turn on each lock and to proceed in a contrary direction within a roadway not more than 30 feet wide from kerb to kerb.

21. The wheel-tracks of the front and the rear wheels shall, so far as possible, coincide (i.e., the wheel-track of the rear wheels must be the same as the wheel-track of the front wheels); and in no case shall the width of the front wheel-track be less than that of the rear wheel-track or the wheel-tracks vary by more than 2½ per cent. of the width.

22. All the underparts of a motor-cab inside the pivots of the front axle and steering arms (which must be placed as near as possible to the road wheels), as far back at least as the rear axle, must clear the ground at least 10 inches, sufficient allowance in addition being made to provide for the wear of the tyres, set of springs and other causes of lessened height, so that the minimum clearance of 10 inches is at all times maintained.

23. It shall be the duty of the owner to see that all parts of the mechanism of the car are periodically inspected and kept in proper working order, and a register shall be kept of such inspections in a convenient form giving such particulars as the Commissioner may prescribe. This register shall be open at any reasonable time to the inspection of the Commissioner or any person duly authorized by him in that behalf. Any failure to maintain this register or to produce it when called for by lawful authority shall be deemed to be a breach of this rule.

24. In every motor-cab the machinery shall be so constructed that no undue noise or vibration is caused, and shall be maintained in such condition at all times.

25. Carburetters must not, in any motor-cab, be placed in close proximity to magnetos or to connection of wires carrying an electric current, unless such magnetos and wire-connections are respectively screened off or encased in a suitable manner.

26. A second tap shall be provided between the tank and the carburetter, and shall be so fixed that it can be shut off or turned from the exterior of the car. Every motor-cab shall also carry some particular form of efficient fire-extinguisher.

27. No oil shall be allowed to drop upon the roadway, and where a tray or undershield is fixed below the mechanism of the car for the purpose of preventing this or for any other purpose, such tray or under-shield shall be so placed or constructed that no petrol from the tank, supply pipe or carburetter can collect therein.

28. Tanks for petrol must be so placed that any overflow shall not fall on or soak into cushions, upholstery or floor mats in or about the body and the filling nozzle shall be brought to and permanently fixed to some point outside the body. No petrol shall be poured into the tank whilst the engine is running or whilst any lamp other than an electric lamp is burning in or on any portion of the car.

29. Effective means shall be provided in every motor-cab for preventing the heat of the motor or of the exhaust pipe connections from injuriously affecting other parts of the motor-cab or interfering with the comfort of passengers. All wires carrying electric current must be properly insulated and protected from injury, and so placed that they cannot be a source of danger.

30. The outlet from the silencer shall not, in any motor-cab, be so placed as to project the exhaust directly on to the road, or be so placed or directed as to alarm horses that may be immediately behind the cab.

31. Every motor-cab shall have at least one driving wheel fitted with an approved means of preventing or limiting side slip, and shall carry at least one spare inflated tyre and rim or other approved device which can, if necessary, be quickly fitted to any wheel.

32. Every motor-cab shall be provided with adequte means for the conveyance of a reasonable quantity of luggage, and with a sufficient number of chains, straps or other means of securing such luggage. No luggage shall be carried on the roof of the cab, unless there has been affixed thereto a guard rail of a type approved by the Commissioner or by such officer as he may empower in this behalf.

33. Where acetylene or other gas is used to light the carriage, the cylinders or vessels which contain the gas or in which it is generated must be fixed outside in such a position as to minimize the danger of accidental ignition.

34. No celluloid or xylonite fittings shall be placed inside or outside any motor-cab :

Provided that this rule shall not apply to the side curtains and hood ; and the accumulators contained in such cab if suitably boxed.

35. No printed, written or other such matter except particulars required by these rules shall appear on the outside or inside of a motor-cab or be carried by way of advertisement. The number of every motor-cab shall be shown clearly on the inside of the cab in an approved manner.

36. The cushions of the seats in every motor-cab shall be stuffed and covered with suitable material and provided with clean covers in good condition.

37. All the appointments and furniture of a motor-cab shall be maintained in good order and repair, the paint and varnish in good condition and the inside perfectly clean. The floor shall be covered with a suitable mat.

38. The Commissioner or such officer as he may empower in this behalf may prohibit the use of a motor-cab which in his opinion is unfit to ply for hire by breaking the seals of the meter and notifying the owner.

39. The carrying capacity of all motor-cabs shall be fixed by the licensing officer and shall be shown clearly on the inside of the cab. No motor-cab shall be licensed to carry in the body of the cab more than three passengers, unless it is fitted with front seats facing the back seat, sufficient to accommodate the additional passengers permitted. The space on the near side of the driver may be used for a passenger or luggage at the option of the hirer.

40. The driver of a motor-cab immediately after any hiring shall carefully search for any property accidentally left in it, and shall take the same within 24 hours, if not sooner claimed by the owner, to the nearest police-station.

41. The drivers at motor-cab stands shall observe the following rules, namely :—

INDIA—WEST COAST.

Alleppey anchorage.

No. 384 (first publication).—The Principal Port Officer, Alleppey, has given Notice dated the 2nd September 1921 that vessels anchoring in the Alleppey Roadstead should take up a berth southward of the Pier with the flagstaff bearing about E. N. E., and as close in shore as possible, in order to obtain a quick despatch.

The littoral current, close in shore, sets to the southward, sometimes as strongly as two knots when a strong sea breeze is blowing with a flood tide, making it very difficult for cargo boats to reach steamers anchored in the Roads. Occasionally a return set to the north is experienced, but it is usually very feeble and of a short duration. The prevailing winds are from the W. N. W.

The bottom shoals gradually, and the depth of water in which to anchor should be decided according to the soundings obtained.

A mud-bank forms occasionally in the vicinity of the Pier, stretching along the coast for a few miles, giving perfectly smooth water, and exists on the date of this notice ; caution is therefore necessary in approaching the shore.

The mud-bank may shift to the southward, or disappear altogether, at any time.

RESOLUTION—No. 3336Pl.

READ—

The Report on Police Administration in the Bengal Presidency for the year 1920.

READ ALSO—

The report for the year 1919 and the resolution of Government recorded thereon.

1. Mr. R. B. Hyde held charge of the department as Inspector-General of Police till the 3rd June 1920, when he proceeded on combined leave. Mr. R. H. S. Hutchinson officiated for him during the remainder of the year.

2. The Military Police Battalion now known as the Eastern Frontier Rifles (Bengal Battalion), though without its full complement of military officers, was maintained in a state of efficiency and good discipline. The Indian officers and men who served in the Indian Expeditionary Force returned during the year, and the Battalion is to be congratulated on the fine record of courage and endurance given to them by the Commanding Officer under whom they served.

3. The sanctioned strength of the subordinate police rose from 23,051 to 23,852. The increase is due chiefly to the creation of additional appointments of sub-inspectors required to replace probationers under practical training in districts, and of constables for strengthening the reserve for leave and sickness. The enlistment of constables was not satisfactory during the greater part of the year, but recruits presented themselves in large numbers after the revised rates of pay were announced. It is noticeable that Bengali recruits formed 65·1 per cent. of the total number, the highest proportion so far recorded.

4. The most important feature of the year's administration was the question of improving the conditions of service, especially in the subordinate ranks, among some of whom dissatisfaction was bringing in its train a certain deterioration of morale. It was recognised that some improvement in pay and prospects was imperatively necessary, while financial conditions rendered an adequate solution of the problem one of considerable difficulty. After very careful consideration new terms, entailing very heavy expenditure, were finally sanctioned for the subordinate ranks, involving a substantial increase of pay and grant of other concessions, and constituting what were considered to be fair and reasonable prospects. The pay of inspectors was revised after the year ended. It cannot, however, be said that the dissatisfaction has entirely disappeared. There is a feeling among the subordinate officers that their emoluments are low as compared with those of other services of similar status, and they have made representations to Government to this effect. The question is now receiving further examination, but the financial difficulty remains in an acute form.

5. The health of the force showed no improvement, malarial fever and influenza causing much illness; in some districts the daily average number of absentees owing to sickness was very high. Better results may be looked for now that the increase in the leave reserve will give some relief from the strain of continuous duty, and the higher rates of pay will enable the lower ranks to provide themselves with more and better food. But there remain other factors adversely affecting the health of the force, e.g., the inadequate supply of cots and mosquito-nets and the defective buildings in which many officers and men are housed, the improvement of which is a slow process, retarded by financial considerations.

6. A very satisfactory feature of the year's work is the increase in the number of officers and men who did specially good work for which they received rewards. On the other hand, discontent with the conditions of service unfortunately resulted in some instances in a decline from the necessary standard of discipline, and a consequent increase in the number of departmental punishments inflicted. The number of complaints instituted by private persons against the police showed a decrease, the number of officers and men who were found guilty of offences on such complaints being 128 out of a total force of more than 23,000. Of 49 civil suits instituted against the police, 24 were dismissed, one was decreed, and the others were pending at the close of the year.

7. Varying reports have been received from districts on the work of the rural police, and the complaints of the inadequacy of the chaukidars' pay are general and well founded. In many districts the resignations on this account were numerous, while difficulty has been found in filling vacancies. The maximum pay is fixed by the Chaukidari Act in areas where that Act is still in force, and it is only where union boards have been established that a higher rate is permissible; the desirability of amending the Chaukidari Act in this respect is under the consideration of Government. Instances of specially good work have been brought to notice, and it is satisfactory that the percentage of chaukidars rewarded rose from 16·3 to 19·5. The number punished, however, also increased, though in several districts undue severity appears to have been shown.

8. The expenditure of the department increased from rupees 1 crore 15 lakhs to rupees 1 crore 31 lakhs in round figures. The increase is mainly due to the enhanced rates of pay, to the grant of ad interim allowances to ministerial officers, and for travelling and conveyance allowances. The expenditure on the Criminal Investigation Department was considerably reduced. Progress in building construction was slower, the amount spent on buildings having fallen from Rs. 22 lakhs in the previous year to Rs. 17 lakhs. The report draws special attention to the dilapidated and insanitary condition of many police station buildings and staff quarters, and to the effect caused thereby on the health and discipline of the force. The adequate housing of the force has been for many years one of the urgent needs of the department, but the increased cost of building materials has stood in the way of any substantial progress in recent years. In the present financial situation, the Governor in Council fears that funds are not likely to be available in sufficient measure towards provision for improved buildings.

9. The total volume of serious crime was less than in the previous year, the decrease being most marked in offences against property, viz., dacoity, robbery, etc., and attributable in a large measure to the preventive measures which continue to be taken. Good work was done by the C. I. D. in dealing with organized and professional crime, of which the Inspector-General gives various interesting examples, and valuable assistance was given by it to the district police in combating outbreaks of dacoity. It is satisfactory to note that the co-operation of the public with the police in the prevention and detection of crime continued to manifest itself in certain areas, specially in Hooghly, where defence parties achieved considerable success. The system of station patrol boats for the prevention of crime in riverine areas has had good results, and was made permanent during the year. The problem of dealing with the habitual criminal has again been examined by the Inspector-General who favours the method of "preventive detection." The opinion of the Jails Committee on the question has now been received and is under consideration. The province was free from revolutionary outrages; no political significance is attached to two dacoities which are believed to have been committed by men of the bhadralok class. All detenus under the Defence of India Rule and state prisoners who were under restraint at the end of 1919, were released during the year; seven convicts in so-called political cases, whose conduct was satisfactory, were also released before the expiry of their sentences.

10. The increase in the burden of extra-departmental duties thrown upon the police is to be regretted, though the Legislative Council elections and the census were special incidents entailing additional work.

11. The Governor in Council desires to thank Messrs. Hyde and Hutchinson for maintaining a high standard of administration during a year when adverse economic conditions and industrial unrest added to the difficulties of police work. He has also read with pleasure the list of officers commended for good work by the Inspector-General.

The report is an interesting one, particularly in the definite examples given of good work done. Owing to financial stringency the Department is at present severely handicapped, and the record of achievement is for that reason the more satisfactory.

ORDERED—That copies of the Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police, the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, and all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

ORDERED—Also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON INLAND EMIGRATION UNDER THE ASSAM LABOUR AND EMIGRATION ACT, 1901 (VI OF 1901) FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH JUNE 1921.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Emigration.

DARJEELING, THE 4TH OCTOBER 1921.

RESOLUTION—No. 213T.—R.

READ—

The Reports on Inland Emigration under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901) for the year ending the 30th June 1921, submitted by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, and the District and Assistant Superintendents of Emigration.

THE most remarkable feature of the year under review in connection with inland emigration was the decrease in the number of recruits despatched to the labour districts.

2. Recruiting operations in Bengal were conducted as usual in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Burdwan and Midnapore, but the number of garden sardars employed during the year was only 248 as against 700 in the preceding year. All of them worked under the supervision of licensed local agents. The number of local agents' licenses issued was 12 as against 13 in 1919-20. The total number of emigrants recruited in Bengal was 86 as against 600 in the previous year. The largest number of recruits was from Midnapore, viz., 68. Conditions of recruitment in other provinces appear to have been similar, for the total number of emigrants from Bengal and other provinces embarking at Goalundo was 13,051 as compared with 50,989 in the preceding year. The decrease was mainly due to the depression in the tea industry.

3. No criminal case connected with emigration was reported during the year.

4. Rest-houses for emigrants were duly inspected and generally kept in proper sanitary condition. These rest-houses, which used to be maintained by different forwarding agents, have been taken over by the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association since the 31st August 1920.

5. Arrangements for river transport were satisfactory. Five deaths, of which two were due to cholera, were reported to have occurred among emigrants at Naihati. Of the 13,061 emigrants who arrived at Goalundo, nine died at the Goalundo hospital; two of these deaths were due to cholera. There was no death during the steamer journey to Chandpur among the 3,710 emigrants who embarked for the Surma Valley districts, but of the 9,341 emigrants who embarked for the Brahmaputra Valley, three died during the voyage, one of the deaths being due to cholera.

6. In connection with the transport of labour to Assam receipts amounted to Rs. 1,751 against Rs. 1,750 in the preceding year, while the expenditure fell from Rs. 22,720 to Rs. 22,373.

7. Major C. A. Gourlay, I.M.S., held the office of Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, up to the 19th February 1921, when he proceeded on leave. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to him and to Lieutenant-Colonel Moses, who succeeded him, and also to the local officers for their assistance in the administration of the Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

NOTIFICATION.

No. 8632A.—The 19th October 1921.—The following preliminary Regulations respecting the examination of candidates for the Indian Civil Service to be held in London in August 1922 are published for general information.

J. DONALD,

Chief Secretary
to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Copies of this form may be obtained on application to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

NOTICE.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorised by the Secretary of State for India in Council to announce that the new age limits for the Indian Civil Service Open Competition in this country, viz., 21 to 23 on the 1st August of the year of competition, will come into force for the Open Competition to be held in 1924. For the Open Competition to be held in August 1921, the age limits will remain as hitherto, viz., 22 to 24 on the 1st August 1921; for the Open Competitions to be held in 1922 and 1923 the age limits will be 21 to 24 on the 1st August of the year of competition, these years constituting a transition period from the old to the new age limits. The rule contained in the appendix to the current regulations, by which a maximum of one year's deduction from actual age is allowed in certain cases on account of war-service, will remain in force for the Competitions of 1922 and 1923

The probationary course of selected candidates, before proceeding to India, will be extended to two years in the case of all candidates selected on the result of the Open Competition to be held in 1924; and a proportion of the younger candidates selected on the result of the Open Competitions to be held in 1922 and 1923 will also be required to undergo two years' probation in the United Kingdom.

As the scheme and syllabus of the examination as lately revised may be expected to prove well adapted to their purpose under the new age limits it is not intended to make any material change unless experience shows that modification is required; the Regulations are always, however, liable to alteration from year to year.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,

May, 1921.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE.

OPEN COMPETITION OF 1922.

An open Competitive Examination for admission to the Indian Civil Service will be held in London in 1922, the written work commencing on the 1st August, while the viva voce test (Subject 6) will be held in July.

The number of persons to be selected at this examination will be announced hereafter.

No person will be admitted to compete from whom the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, has not received on or before the 1st June, 1922, an application on the prescribed form, a copy of which is sent herewith. No allegation that an Application Form or a letter respecting such Form has been lost or delayed in the post will be considered by the Commissioners unless the person making such allegation produces a Post Office Certificate of Posting. Candidates who delay their applications until the last day will do so at their own risk.

Acknowledgments of such Application Form are sent, and any candidate who has filled up and returned the printed Application

Form but has not received an acknowledgement of it within a reasonable time should at once write to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, Burlington Gardens, London, W. 1. Failure to comply with this provision will deprive the candidate of any claim to consideration.

Candidates will be notified early in June of the date and place fixed for their viva voce test and of the manner in which the fee (£6) is to be paid. The Order for admission to the written part of the examination will be posted early in July to the address given on the Form of Application, and will contain instructions as to the time and place at which candidates are to attend.

The subjects of the open competitive examination will be the same as in 1921. They are shown on next two pages.

The age limits are 21 and 24 on 1st August, 1922, the lower limit thus being a year less than in 1921.

Selected candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation some for one year and some for two years, the younger candidates being assigned for two-year probation. The regulations governing the period of probation are under consideration and will be published later, when the full regulations for the competition of August 1922 are ready for issue. It may, however, be stated that Selected Candidates will be required to pass certain educational tests and tests in riding at intervals during and at the end of the period of probation; and that, provided the probation is passed at one of the Universities or Colleges in the United Kingdom approved by the Secretary of State, certain monetary allowances will be made to the Selected Candidates by the Government of India.

6. Viva Voce.—The examination will be in matters of general interest, not in matters of academic interest; it is intended to test the candidate's alertness, intelligence and general outlook.

Languages with History and Literature.—Subjects 7-14. History and Literature will, as far as possible, be brought into close relation. The questions on Literature will require first-hand knowledge of the authors; and the authors dealt with will be those which candidates ought to have read. Passages of Literature may be set for comment on matters of social, political, legal, or other historical importance.

7. Arabic Language: translation, free composition and set composition in the classical language.

Candidates for any period should be prepared to show some first-hand knowledge of some of the works of the authors named below for the period and of their place in the history of their country. Questions may also be asked about other writers. Questions will not be set on the history of the language.

British history will be taken as a whole; politics, economics, and constitution will be considered as mutually affecting each other, and all together as the outcome of the common life of the nation. Candidates will be expected to know so much of European history as will make the external action of this country fully intelligible and will explain those movements in Britain which had their beginnings elsewhere, e.g., the Renaissance, the Reformation, and the reactions in this country of the French Revolution. From 1750 onwards the outstanding incidents and movements in the history of British possessions will assume more importance.

The standard in subjects of Class I will be the Intermediate. Candidates will be required to reach this standard in each of the four obligatory subjects named in Class I.

Candidates who fail in only one obligatory subject but make 6,000 marks or more in the aggregate, will take their place in the list of qualified candidates according to the aggregate of the marks obtained.

3. Place of examination.—The examination will be conducted by the Central Advisory Board of Education. The centre of examination for candidates from Bengal will be Calcutta.

4. Examination fee.—A fee of Rs. 7-8 is required from all candidates on submission of their application to the District Officer for nomination. The fee payable must be paid by means of postage stamps of the specified amount affixed to the application.

5. Conditions of eligibility.—Every candidate must be an Indian British subject, and at the time of his birth his father must have been a natural-born Indian British subject. The decision of the Government of India as to whether a candidate satisfies these conditions shall be final. Candidates must, without exception on any ground, be above 21 and under 24 years of age on the 1st August 1921.

Every candidate must possess a degree.

Candidates must be of respectable antecedents and must submit references as to character and testemonials of good behaviour and of suitability for the Indian Police.

6. Form of application.—Application to compete at the examination must be made on a printed form to be obtained from the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Calcutta, or from any District Officer, and to be lodged with the necessary documents to the District Officer or Chairman, Calcutta Corporation (for candidates in Calcutta) not later than the 1st November 1921.

No applications received after that date can be considered.

7. Canvassing.—Any candidate attempting to canvass either by himself or through the agency of relatives, friends, patrons or officials will be disqualified.

8. Medical examination.—Those candidates who are successful in the literary examination will be required, shortly after the result of that examination is declared, to undergo a strict examination by a Medical Board in Calcutta, as to their physique and capacity for active out-door work. Instructions as to the date and time of this examination will be issued to successful candidates by the Government of Bengal.

9. Appointment of probationers.—The Secretary of State will nominate as probationers such competitors as attain the highest aggregate of marks [provided that they obtain the minimum aggregate of 6,000 marks (see paragraph 2) and that they pass the medical examination and satisfy the requisite conditions in other respects].

10. Riding.—A knowledge of riding is not insisted on as an essential qualification before nomination. But probationers will be subjected to a riding test at the termination of their probationary period, failure to pass which will disqualify the candidate for confirmation in the service.

11. (a) Uniform.—It is an ordinary condition of appointment that a successful candidate shall provide himself or be provided by his parents or guardians with his uniform or the cost thereof. The Government of Bengal will make a contributory grant of Rs. 400 towards the cost of uniform.

(b) Horse and saddlery.—A successful candidate must, when required to do so by Government, provide himself with a suitable horse and saddlery at his own expense. The Government of Bengal will make to a newly-appointed officer a grant of a sum not exceeding Rs. 600 towards the cost of such horse and saddlery.

12. Salary during probation.—Probationers will receive initial pay of Rs. 325 a month. (See Appendix I.)

13. Period of probation.—Probationers will be required to qualify by passing the necessary departmental examinations [as well as the riding test (see rule 10)] within two years of their selection.

14. Liability of probationers to removal.—Any probationer who may fail to pass the prescribed examinations within two years, or be found unfit for Police duties, will be liable to removal from the Service.

15. Promotion after probation.—No probationer will be eligible for promotion, either acting or substantive, until he has passed the prescribed departmental examinations, including the riding test.

With a view to prevent parents and guardians from incurring the inconvenience and expense of preparing candidates who may be physically unfit for the Police Service, it is suggested that, before any such preparation is begun, candidates be submitted to examination by the medical adviser of the family, or any other qualified medical practitioner, with regard to the points which are indicated in Appendix II.

It is to be understood that this private examination is merely suggested to lessen the chances of disappointment, and that it is by no means intended to take the place of, or to influence in any way, the official examination.

EXTRACT FROM THE REGULATIONS AS TO THE PHYSICAL EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR APPOINTMENTS UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

[These Regulations are published for the convenience of candidates and in order to enable them to ascertain the probability of their coming up to the required physical standard. But it must be clearly understood that the Secretary of State reserves to himself an absolute discretion to reject as unfit any candidate whom he may consider, after hearing the opinion of his medical advisers, to be physically disqualified for the public service; and that his discretion is in no respect limited by these Regulations.]

N.B.—As regards candidates who have been wounded, a candidate who has lost one hand, fore-arm, or arm, or one leg below the knee might be accepted, but the following classes of wounds must be regarded as disqualifications, viz., (1) Injury to head; (2) Loss of an eye; (3) Loss of leg above or through the knee.

GENERAL PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS.

I. A candidate must be in good mental and bodily health, and free from any physical defect likely to interfere with efficient performance of duty.

The arms will then be lowered to hang loosely by the side, and care will be taken that the shoulders are not thrown upwards or backwards so as to displace the tape. The candidate will then be directed to empty his chest of air as much as is possible. This is best done by continuous whistling with the lips as long as sound can be produced. The tape is carefully gathered in during the process, and when the minimum measurement is reached it is recorded. The candidate will then be directed to inflate his chest to its utmost capacity. The maximum measurement will likewise be noted. The girth with the chest fully expanded and the range of expansion between the minimum and maximum will then be recorded.

HIGH COURT NOTICE.

ENGLISH DEPAREMENT.

Civil.

General Letter No. 12, dated Calcutta, the 15th September 1921.

From—N. G. A. EDGLEY, ESQ., I.C.S., Registrar of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, Appellate Side,

To—The District Judge of

SUBJECT :—Cancellation of Rule 30, Chapter III, Volume I of the Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil.

I AM directed to refer to Rule 30, Chapter III, pages 89-90, Volume I, of the Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil, which provides that an interval of four months should ordinarily be allowed to intervene from the date of decree before the documents filed in a case are returned to the parties who produced them, and that an application for the return of documents within that period should not be complied with without first giving notice of the same to the pleader of the opposite party.

2. It has been represented to the Court that this Rule is inconsistent with Order XIII, Rule 9, of the Code of Civil Procedure, which permits, subject to certain provisos, the return of documents placed on the record, in non-appealable cases, when the case has been disposed of, and in appealable cases, when the Court is satisfied that the time for preferring an appeal has elapsed and that no appeal has been preferred, or, if an appeal has been preferred, when the appeal has been disposed of.

3. After consideration of the matter, the Hon'ble Judges have come to the conclusion that the view represented to them is correct, that Rule 30, Chapter III, Volume I, of the Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil, should be cancelled and that in future the courts should be guided by the provisions of Order XIII, Rule 9, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

4. I am accordingly to invite your attention and that of the courts subordinate to you to those provisions, and to add that in appealable cases when there is any doubt whether an appeal has been preferred or not, the court should, before complying with an application for the return of a document, direct that notice be given to the pleader of the opposite party or take such other steps as it may think proper to satisfy itself that no appeal has been preferred.

5. In accordance with the above decision, Rule 30, Chapter III, Volume I, of the Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil, is hereby cancelled.

List of questions for witnesses giving written evidence for the Indian Fiscal Commission.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The following questions have been framed with a view to indicating the main aspects of the enquiry to be undertaken by the Fiscal Commission, so far as the President and those Members of the Commission whom he has been able to consult can at present judge of them. Sections A and B are intended to cover the general problems which will arise for consideration in determining the future direction of fiscal policy and in deciding whether India should adopt a policy of Imperial Preference. The remaining sections contain questions designed to elicit not only the opinions but the definite experience of those engaged in the various branches of industry and commerce. In the case of answers to these questions the Commission will naturally attach special importance to conclusions resting on a solid foundation of facts and figures.

2. It is not intended that those who are engaged in industry and commerce should confine themselves to the special sections dealing with their particular business. On the contrary, there are many questions in sections A and B which require for their adequate consideration an intimate acquaintance with business conditions, and it is hoped that those who have such special knowledge will give the commission the benefit of their general views on the important and difficult problems that arise.

3. As explained above, the questions are designed to cover the whole field of the enquiry, so far as it can be outlined at this stage. It is not therefore expected that each witness should attempt to answer all the questions. If a witness wishes to give his views on any points relevant to the enquiry which have not been included in the questionnaire, it would be convenient that such points should be dealt with in a supplementary statement.

4. The Commission is inviting either directly or through Local Governments various associations and individuals to forward in writing their replies to the questionnaire. The Commission will also be glad to receive replies from any associations or individuals not so invited who may wish to represent their views. Copies of the questionnaire can be obtained from the Secretary, Indian Fiscal Commission, Simla, on application.

5. The Commission assembles in the first half of November and the early receipt of written replies to the questions would greatly facilitate its work. After perusal of the replies the Commission will select certain witnesses for oral examination. To give adequate time for this, it is requested that replies may be despatched so as to arrive at least three weeks before the date on which the witness is likely to be examined. The provisional programme of the tour of the Commission indicating the approximate dates on which oral evidence will be taken at each centre is as follows :—

QUESTIONS FOR WITNESSES.

A.—GENERAL.

The existing Indian import tariff is based primarily on revenue considerations. But it has been modified with a view to admitting free or at the favourable rate of 2½ per cent. articles the cheap import of which was considered desirable in the interests of the country. Thus certain raw materials, manures, agricultural implements, dairy appliances and cotton yarn are admitted free. Machinery, iron and steel and railway plant and rolling stock pay only 2½ per cent. ad valorem. The general rate, under which come the bulk of imports, is 11 per cent. ad valorem, while certain articles such as motor-cars, jewellery and silk goods have been specially subjected from revenue considerations to a duty of 20 per cent. Sugar is charged at a special rate of 15 per cent. and high duties are imposed for revenue purpose on tobacco and liquors. An excise duty at the rate of 3½ per cent. is levied on all woven cotton goods manufactured in power mills in British India.

Export duties imposed for revenue purposes are at present levied on raw and manufactured jute, rice and tea. In 1919 an export duty was also imposed on raw hides and skins, with a rebate of ¼ of the duty on hides and skins exported to any part of the Empire. The object of the duty was partly to foster the Indian tanning industry and partly to maintain a key industry within the Empire.

A Revenue Tariff.

1. Do you generally favour a policy of free trade or protection? If the former, have you any objection to the imposition of customs duties for the purpose of obtaining revenue?

2. Do you consider that a tariff provides a more or a less suitable form of taxation for India than direct taxation? If fresh taxation were necessary would you prefer an increase in customs to an increase in direct taxation?

3. If you accept the principle of imposing a tariff for revenue purposes would you suggest any change in the list of articles taxed or in the rate of taxation?

4. Do you consider that the tariff should continue to be based on existing principles? If so, please explain your views as to the advantages of this policy.

5. What effect do you consider the existing tariff policy has had on Indian industries in the past, and what effects on Indian industries would you anticipate from a continuance of this policy in the future?

6. When a duty is imposed on an article imported from abroad do you approve in theory or in practice of imposing an excise duty on the same article manufactured in India?

7. If you favour the imposition of excise duties is it on the ground that no protection of any kind should be afforded to the home manufacturer as against the foreign manufacturer?

8. Can such duties be imposed without raising the price to the consumer?

A Protective Tariff.

9. Do you consider that the tariff should be framed primarily with the object of fostering Indian industries? If so, please explain the advantages anticipated.

10. Do you look forward to India becoming in time independent of other countries in regard to all her requirements of manufactured goods, or do you consider that there are certain manufactured goods for which she is always likely to be dependent on other countries? If you hold the latter view can you furnish a list of articles for which India will have to depend on other countries?

11. Would you, for the purpose of developing Indian industries, favour the imposition of protective duties on all imported manufactures or only on some?

12. If you favour the protection of some industries only, which would you select for protection and on what principles?

13. Do you consider it desirable to establish new industries by protection? If so, on what principles would you select them?

14. Would you confine protection to industries which are likely after a period to be able to face foreign competition without such assistance, or would you contemplate the establishment of industries which would be likely to require continuous assistance?

15. Would you grant special protection against foreign goods favoured by such measures as dumping, bounties, subsidies or transport concessions? If so, whatmeans would you suggest for ascertaining the exact facts and what measures would you advocate to afford the necessary protecton?

16. What is your attitude towards hand industries and in particular towards the cotton handloom industry? Do you wish them to be maintained or not?

17. Is there any danger in India of protection leading to combination among the protected manufacturers in order to maintain a quasi-monopoly price? If so, what safeguards would you suggest to counteract the effect of such a combination?

18. Do you think that, if a protective policy is adopted, it is likely that British or foreign industrial firms will endeavour to establish themselves in India in order to get the benefit of the protective tariff? If so, what would be your attitude towards such a movement?

19. In countries under a protective system it sometimes happens that producers of raw material ask for protection, while manufacturers who use the raw material oppose them, wishing to get their raw material as cheaply as possible. In the same way a demand of the spinning industry for protection is sometimes opposed by the weaving industry whose interest lies in cheap yarn. Do you think that conflicts of interest of this nature would be likely to arise in India and that if they did arise there would be any difficulty in adjusting them?

Effect of Protection on prices and on the consumer.

20. When an import duty is imposed, do you consider that ordinarily the whole or any part of it is passed on to the consumer in a rise of price?

21. If a protective duty causes a rise in price, is that rise likely to be permanent or not?

22. Would you be willing to accept an increase in price to the Indian consumer for the sake of developing Indian industries?

23. In considering the above question would you have regard to the point whether the protected article was a necessary of life? If so, what articles would you class as necessaries?

24. If you hold that an increase in the tariff rates would tend to increase the cost of living in India do you think the increased cost would be covered wholly or in part by a rise in wages or salary for

(a) the industrial wage earner,

(b) the agricultural wage earner,

(c) the middle classes.

Effect of Protection on Foreign Trade.

25. What effect do you consider a policy of protection would have on the foreign trade of India, and on the general commercial position and prospects of the country?

Use of Tariff for bargaining.

26. Do you consider that the existence of a tariff which could be used as an instrument for bargaining with other countries would be advantageous to India?

27. If so, would you recommend the adoption of general and special tariffs, the special being applied to countries from which India receives favourable treatment?

28. If the tariff is to be used in this way, would it be necessary to make it more detailed than it is at present?

Organisation for investigating the claims of industries.

29. If a policy of protection were adopted would you recommend any kind of permanent organization for investigating the claims of various industries to protection from time to time and for the periodical readjustment of tariff rates?

Export duties.

30. What is your view of the proper function of export duties? Do you think that they should be imposed only for the purpose of raising revenue or do you think that they may be utilised for other purposes also?

31. What do you consider generally is the effect of export duties on the export trade? Can they in certain circumstances be imposed without injury to the trade? If so, in the case of what trades in India could this be done, and to what extent?

32. Would you consider it advisable to impose an export duty on a raw material in order to encourage its retention in India either for purposes of manufacture or for any other purpose? If so, please examine instances in which you would recommend such action and consider whether it would have any effect on the producers of the raw material and the amount they would produce.

33. Do you consider that it would be of advantage to India to impose an export duty on foodstuffs with a view to controlling their export and thereby lowering Indian prices and the cost of living? What effect do you consider such action would be likely to have on the agricultural interests and on the quantity of foodstuffs produced in India?

34. Would you consider it advisable to impose an export duty on a raw material in retaliation for an import duty imposed by a foreign country on the manufactured article? If so, please examine cases in which you would recommend such action.

B.—IMPERIAL PREFERENCE.

At present reduced duties are levied by Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand on a number of articles imported from the United Kingdom. In Canada, Australia and New Zealand the preferential duties are usually about ⅔ of the full duty, though the fraction varies considerably both above and below this figure. The South African preference is a small one and is usually only a rebate of 3 per cent. ad valorem.

The United Kingdom has recently established preferential rates which are granted to the whole Empire on nearly all articles on which import duties are levied in the United Kingdom. The preferential rate is as a rule either ⅚ or ⅔ of the full rate.

A number of the smaller colonies grant preferential rates to the United Kingdom, and there are also various agreements between different parts of the Empire for mutual preference.

The countries which at present levy a lower rate of duty on certain goods, imported from India as compared with the general duty levied on imports from foreign countries are the United Kingdom, Canada and New Zealand.

The articles of interest to India on which such lower duties are levied in the United Kingdom are tea, coffee and tobacco. These are all charged ⅚ of the full rate. In the case of Canada the only Indian Imports of any account are tea, jute cloth and raw hides. There is no duty on raw hides or jute cloth. On Indian tea the rate is 7 cents per lb. as against the rate of 10 cents on tea imported from countries outside the Empire. New Zealand imports from India a small quantity of tea which pays 3*d*. per lb. as against the rate of 5*d*. charged on tea imported from outside the Empire, and a small quantity of candles which are charged 1½*d*. per lb. instead of 2½*d*. Other imports from India into New Zealand are for the most part either free or receive no special treatment.

35. Are you on general grounds favourable to the idea of Imperial Preference? If so, do you think that India would be justified in risking any appreciable economic loss for the sake of Imperial Preference?

36. Would you differentiate between the policy to be adopted towards the United Kingdom and towards other parts of the Empire?

37. Do you anticipate any material loss or gain to India from a system of Imperial Preference? In particular, do you apprehend any likelihood of retaliation by foreign countries against India?

38. If you are in favour of preference, can you give a list of articles imported into India and exported from India to which the policy of preference might be applied? What would you consider a reasonable average rate of preference?

39. What principles would you apply in selecting articles to which preference might be given on import into India? Would you give preference in the case of goods which India hopes in time to manufacture mainly or entirely for herself, or only in the case of goods for which India is likely to have to depend on other countries?

40. If preference were given by raising the import duties on goods coming from foreign countries, the existing rates being maintained for British goods, do you anticipate that this would raise the price to the consumer or not?

41. Do you think that a system of Imperial Preference is likely to increase or diminish the total volume of Indian imports or exports, or to alter appreciably the proportion between them and thus affect the balance of trade?

42. Do you consider that the partial or complete diversion of trade from foreign countries which might result from Imperial Preference would have any effect on India's general trade position?

C—MANUFACTURES.

43. Are you interested in any industry and if so in what capacity?

44. Do you consider that there are natural advantages for the industry in India? If so, please enumerate them.

45. Do you consider that the industry is essential to the national security or of substantial importance to the economic prosperity of India?

46. What is the state of organization and equipment of the industry in India as compared with that in other countries?

47. On what markets does the industry depend for the sale of its output?

48. What foreign competition (including for this purpose competition from the United Kingdom or other parts of the Empire) does the industry have to meet—

(a) in the Indian market;

(b) elsewhere?

Does this competition extend to all or only to particular classes of goods, and does it vary with different classes of goods?

49. Apart from questions of organization and equipment are there any special circumstances, natural or artificial, which give the competing country an advantage?

50. Do you think that the industry needs protection? If so, what rate of duty do you consider it is necessary to impose? Please give in detail the facts and figures on which you base your conclusions.

51 Do you think it likely that if protection is granted, the industry will eventually reach a level of development which would enable it to face foreign competition without the aid of protection, or do you think the industry will always remain to a greater or less degree in need of protection?

52. Does the industry ever suffer from dumping? If so, do you wish to suggest any remedy?

53. Is competition from other countries accentuated by depressed exchanges in those countries?

54. If so, is this phenomenon likely to be temporary?

55. Do you consider that any remedy is required? If so, what would you suggest?

56. Has the industry received any benefit from the successive enhancements of the tariff beginning in 1916? Can you describe the effects, so far as yet apparent?

57. Do you think the industry has suffered in any way from export duty? If so, please give in detail the facts and figures from which this conclusion is drawn.

58. Is the finished product of the industry used as the raw material for any other industry? If so, to what extent?

59. Does the industry use as its raw material the finished product of any other industry which is established or is likely to be established in India?

60. Would you prefer a system under which all industries would receive a more or less uniform protection, or one under which industries receive varying amounts of protection in accordance with their needs?

D.—EXPORT TRADE.

N.B.—These questions are intended not only for actual exporters, but also for those who produce for export.

61. What articles do you export and to what countries?

62. Are you interested in any of the articles on which export duties are levied? If so, what do you consider has been the effect of these duties?

63. Do you recommend the increase, reduction or abolition of any of the existing export duties?

64. Is the Indian export trade in any way hampered by high import duties imposed in certain countries? If so, do you consider any action feasible or desirable?

65. Do you think the export of any articles in which you deal would be stimulated by a preferential rate granted by the United Kingdom or any of the Dominions or Colonies? If so, what would you consider the minimum rate of preference for each article which would exercise an appreciable effect?

66. Do you consider that the lower duties at present levied on certain imports from India into the United Kingdom or Canada or New Zealand, as compared with the general duty levied on imports from countries outside the Empire, have had or are likely to have any beneficial effects on the Indian trade in those articles?

67. Do you think that any foreign country whose trade might suffer by a system of Imperial Preference would be able without injury to itself, or would be likely even at the cost of injury to itself, to penalise the Indian export trade to that country? If so, what are the Indian exports that might suffer?

68. If owing to a system of Imperial Preference the imports from certain foreign countries diminished, do you consider that this would tend to have any effect on the volume of Indian exports to those countries?

69. If so, would there be an alternative outlet for these exports, without economic disadvantage, within the British Empire or in other foreign countries?

E.—IMPORT TRADE.

70 What articles do you import and from what countries?

71. Have you observed any effects on your trade in particular articles from the year 1916 up to date, which can be ascribed in part or in whole to the changes in the rates of import duty?

72. Do you consider that an appreciable increase in the present tariff rates would seriously diminish the volume of imports? Can you give instances of any important commodities in which such a result is likely to occur?

73. What would you expect to be the effect on the import trade of a preference given to British goods—

(a) if the preference were given by maintaining the existing rate for foreign goods and reducing it for British goods;

(b) if the preference were given by maintaining the existing rate for British goods and enhancing it for foreign goods; and

(c) if the preference were given by a combination of (a) and (b), i.e., raising the rate for foreign goods and reducing it for British goods?

74. If Imperial Preference were introduced would you recommend that the same preference on the same goods should be granted to all constituent parts of the Empire, or would you treat each part of the Empire separately, taking into account the question of what reciprocal benefits India would receive?

75. Do you think it likely that a system of Imperial Preference would diminish or increase the total import of any class of goods, or would it merely tend to alter the proportion in which that total is derived from foreign and British countries?

76. Would any undesirable results follow from diverting the source of Indian imports from foreign to British countries?

77. If you are favourable to Imperial Preference, to what articles would you be prepared to extend a preference if imported from the Empire or particular parts of the Empire, and what would you suggest as the amount of that preference?

78. Do you approve of the system of ad valorem customs duties, or would you prefer that the duty should be specific, i.e., a fixed charge for a given weight or measure? If you prefer the latter system, what are your views on the necessity of readjusting the duties from time to time?

F.—RETAIL TRADE.

79. What are the principal imported goods in which you deal?

80. To what extent can changes in the retail prices of imported goods from 1916 onwards be attributed to the increases in the import duties during that period? Can you give details of any such changes in retail prices with which you are familiar?

81. In the case of any important classes of imports can you give any figures showing to what extent demand diminishes as prices rise?

82. Have the increases in the tariff since 1916 affected your trade in any way?

83. What would you expect to be the effect on your trade if imports from the United Kingdom or from the whole Empire were taxed at existing rates, while the duty on imports from foreign countries was raised?

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

Notification dated the 24th October 1921.—The subjoined abstract of the annual report and accounts of the District Road Committee of the Darjeeling district for the year 1920-21, together with the remarks of the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division thereon, is published for general information.

G. G. DEY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Extract from letter No. 340P.W., dated the 15th July 1921, from W. A. MARR, ESQ., C.I.E., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

* * * * * * *

2. I have no remarks to offer.

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of Darjeeling, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the district for the year 1920-21.

[Vide letter No 181R.F., dated the 27th June 1921 from S. W Goode, Esq , I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee, Darjeeling, to the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division.]

1. Working of the Committee.—

(a) District Road Committee.—There were 18 members of the Committee, 6 official and 12 non-official. Nine meetings were held during the year, the average attendance being 10·4 or 57·7 per cent. at a meeting.

(b) Kurseong Branch Road Committee.—The total number of members of the Committee was 9—2 official and 7 non-official. Three meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 5·3 or 58·8 per cent. at a meeting.

(c) Terai Branch Road Committee.—There were 16 members of this Committe, 3 official and 13 non-official. Five meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 10·2 or 63·7 per cent. at a meeting.

2. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 1,14,599-5-7 and an outstanding advance of Rs. 5,156-15-3 making a total of Rs. 1,20,056-4-10. This amount together with receipts of Rs. 93,671-0-4 or a total amount of Rs. 2,13,727-5-2 was available for expenditure during the year. The actual expenditure during the year was Rs. 1,31,604-8-3 excluding the unadjusted advance of Rs. 5,000-13-11. The actual cash balance on the 31st March 1921 was Rs. 74,121-15. The closing balance of Rs. 79,122-12-11 including the unadjusted advance of Rs. 5,000-13-11 exceeds one quarter's kist of the annual receipts. Portion of this unadjusted sum was expended, but no accounts having been received within the year, it could not be adjusted. The closing balance is, however, expected to be reduced in the current year to its normal proportions.

Receipts.

3. Provincial Rates.—The road cess was levied in the district during the year by the Committee at the maximum rate of six pies in the rupee. Rs. 60,856-9-6 was collected under the head "Cess on lands" during the year, against Rs. 61,363-2-11 in the previous year. The decrease of Rs. 507 is mainly due to the fact that the arrear contribution towards the proportionate cost of Cess Deputy Collector's pay, etc., was recovered direct from the cess collections according to the revised rates sanctioned by the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department.

4. Miscellaneous.—A sum of Rs. 53-12-3 was received under this head on account of refund of the excess payments made to the employés during the year.

5. Contribution.—

(a) Grant from Government.—A sum of Rs. 8,936-10-7 was received from Government including Rs. 7,506 on account of augmentation of resources of the Committee, against Rs. 11,082-7-6 in the previous year. The decrease is due to the fact that the amounts on account of 1¼ per cent. collections from Government estates were not credited during the year.

(b) Contribution from Darjeeling Improvement Fund.—A contribution of Rs. 23,819 was received under this head towards communications and its share of the cost of the joint cess and tauzi establishment and for Darjeeling Improvement Fund works against Rs. 19,142 in the previous year. The increase is due to the increased expenditure incurred by the appointment of a District Engineer and his subordinates at the joint cost of the Road Fund and Darjeeling Improvement Fund.

(c) Contribution from local bodies, etc.—A contribution of Rs. 5 was received from the Darjeeling Municipality during the year on account of collection of location rent.

Expenditure.

Communication.

6. Original Works.—Rupees 51,253-15-9 was charged under this head on account of the alignment of Road No. 14 (Gumba to Bhanjang) and other works.

7. Repairs.—The sum of Rs. 31,621-7-4 was spent on repairs to roads and bridges against Rs. 30,377-4 in the previous year.

Provided that no such rectification shall be made, having the effect of enhancing an assessment unless the Assessor has given notice to the assessee of his intention so to do and has allowed him a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(2) Where any such rectification has the effect of reducing the assessment, the Assessor shall make a refund to such assessee accordingly.

(3) Where any such rectification has the effect of enhancing the assessment, the Assessor shall serve on the assessee a notice of demand in the prescribed form specifying the sum payable, and such notice of demand shall be deemed to be issued under section 28, and the provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly.

"	XLIV	The Indian Income-tax (Amendment No. 2) Act, 1920.	The whole.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This Bill, which is designed to take the place of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1918 (VII of 1918) and the Indian Super-tax Act, 1920 (XIX of 1920), is based on the report of a Committee appointed to make recommendations for the amendment of these Acts, more particularly regarding the assessment of mercantile profits. The report of the Committee was published for general information on the 28th July 1921. The Bill deals merely with the basis, the methods, and the machinery of assessment. The rates at which income-tax and super-tax will be charged will be determined by the annual Finance Act, and the Schedules in the present Acts have, therefore, been omitted from this Bill. The Bill is a purely administrative measure, the provisions of which will be set in motion by the passing of the annual Finance Bill.

Basis of assessment.

2. Under the present Act, tax at the rates fixed for any year is levied on the income of that year. A provisional assessment is first made on the income of the preceding year, and this assessment is subsequently adjusted and corrected when the income of the year in which the provisional assessment was made is ascertained. This system has given rise to numerous complaints. It involves the keeping of a running account between the Government and the tax-payer; where incomes are liable to sudden fluctuations, the tax-payer has to pay a heavy tax in a lean year and a light tax in a prosperous year; the working of the system is not clearly understood by many assessees, and has given rise to many misapprehensions. The Bill, therefore, provides for the tax at the rates sanctioned for any year being assessed finally on the income of the preceding year and for the abolition of the adjustment system. Since, however, the assessments made in the current year are provisional assessments, clause 68 of the Bill provides that all assessments made in the year 1921-22 shall be adjusted.

The only exception to this general rule is contained in clause 26 of the Bill, where, in order to guard against a possible loss of revenue owing to delay in making assessments on the profits of businesses that close down during the course of a financial or commercial year, it is provided that in such cases, in addition to the assessment on the income of the preceding year, a further assessment may be made in the year in which a business, profession or vocation is closed down on the income of that year. The same clause imposes a statutory obligation on a person discontinuing a business, etc., to give timely notice to the income-tax authorities of his intention to discontinue the business.

3. Difficulties have been experienced in regard to the assessment of business profits owing to a High Court ruling that the word "income" in section 3 of the present Income-tax Act means income actually or constructively received, and that the use of the word in this sense in section 3 restricts and limits any interpretation to be placed upon the following sections of the Act which specify the different classes of income liable to the tax. If this interpretation were to be strictly followed, considerable inconvenience would be caused to assessees who keep their accounts not on the basis of sums actually received and sums actually paid out, but on the principles of mercantile accountancy by the preparation of a profit and loss account and the comparison of the value of the stock in hand at the beginning and the end of each year, since such assessees would be required to recast the whole of their accounts on a cash basis for income-tax returns. The provisions in clauses 3, 4 and 6 to 12 of the Bill have, therefore, been re-drafted in order to make it clear that the tax is chargeable not necessarily on "income" calculated on actual receipts and expenditure, but on the "income, profits or gains" as set out and defined in these clauses; while clause 13 makes it clear that no uniform method of accounting is prescribed for all tax-payers, and that every tax-payer may, so far as is possible, adopt such form and system of accounting as is best suited for his purposes. The only restrictions are that the method adopted must be one that clearly reflects the income of the assessee in respect of the fixed period of "the previous year," and that it is the one regularly employed by him for the purposes of his business. If the tax-payer does not regularly employ a method of accounting which clearly reflects his income for the "previous year," the computation will be made in such manner as in the opinion of the assessor does clearly reflect it. It will be the method of accounting adopted for or by the tax-payer, therefore, that will determine the period within which any item of gross income or any deduction therefrom is to be accounted for. For the same reasons the words "in respect of sums paid or, in the case of depreciation, debited" which occur in section 9 (2) of the present Act have been omitted, and sub-clause (3) of clause 10 of the Bill inserted so that there may be no doubt that the assessee may adopt either a cash basis or a mercantile accountancy basis as his regular system of keeping accounts.

4. As stated above assessable income must be computed with reference to a fixed period, which is known as the "previous year." The definition of the phrase "previous year" in section 2 (11) of the present Act has occasioned difficulties to assessees whose accounts year is not in accordance with that definition. That definition restricts the accounting period to a period of twelve calendar months, and merely gives the assessee an option of adopting a year of twelve calendar months ending on a date other than the 31st day of March. In the case of certain communities the commercial year is not necessarily a calendar year, but is a period which, expressed in calendar months, varies from year to year, and in one year may be slightly over and in another year slightly under twelve months. Again, any year which is adopted in place of the financial year must under the present definition terminate at some period within the previous financial year, and there are numerous cases where the commercial year terminates in the month of April so that the returns and accounts on which the assessment is based in such cases relate to a period more than twelve months prior to the date of assessment. Clause 2 (11) (b) provides for such cases, so that either the Government of India or the head of the income-tax department in a province, if authorised by the Government of India, may determine as the "previous year" a commercial year which may be slightly over or slightly under twelve months. It is intended that no commercial year should be fixed terminating later than one month after the end of the previous financial year.

5. The method of calculating taxable income which is prescribed in sections 12 to 14A of the present Act has given rise to various inequalities in assessment. "Taxable income" under the present Act means income assessed directly on the assessee, that is, his income from sources other than the dividends of a company or the share in the profits of a firm, so that, an assessee who has income either from a firm or from the profits of a company and has in addition other income which is assessed to income-tax directly on him, pays no income-tax on that other income unless it is in excess of Rs 2,000, while per contra he gets no deduction on account of insurance premia set against the income that he derives from a company or a firm. Clauses 3 and 14 to 16 of the Bill, therefore, provide that the 'total income" of an assessee shall determine his liability to the tax as well as the rate at which the tax shall be assessed on every portion of that income and also permit the deduction on account of insurance premia in the case of all income from whatever source derived. A further amendment in these clauses has been made in order to provide that no account shall be taken of any income derived from a Hindu undivided family by an individual member of the family in determining the rate at which that individual member shall pay income-tax on his separate income.

6. Under the wording of section 14 of the present Act it is the aggregate amount chargeable under each head that determines taxable income, so that when a person has carried on a trade or profession and also has an income from house property, if he has actually incurred a loss in the trade, the figure adopted under that head in arriving at the aggregate amount of income chargeable to income-tax is nil and not a minus sum. In clause 25 of the Bill it is proposed to amend this provision so that a loss under one head of income may be charged against profits under another.

7. Another difficulty complained of by commercial assessees is in connection with the distinction in the present Act between registered and unregistered firms. This distinction is therefore abolished in this Bill, under the provisions of which the profits of partnerships as such will be assessed at the highest rate, it being left to the assessor in each case to decide whether a partnership exists or not from the papers or accounts produced by the assessee. While the liability for the income-tax payable on account of the profits of a firm or partnership will remain upon the partnership, in order to avoid unnecessary refunds departmental instructions will be issued that where individual partners file their statements of personal income at the same time as the statement of the partnership profits, the assessor will merely have to ascertain whether the whole of the partnership profits are accounted for in these personal statements in which event he would charge the partners direct at the appropriate rate. The liability of the partnership for the tax assessed on the partnership profits would however remain unless and until the tax assessed on the individual partners has been recovered from them

The super-tax on unregistered firms it is proposed to abolish, and super-tax will then be levied on each individual partner on his total income. In order to provide, however, for the recovery of super-tax from the share of profits of partners in a firm who are not resident in British India, provision is made in clause 56 that the resident partners or representatives of such firms shall pay the super-tax due on any non-resident partner's share of the profits, and a similar provision is made in the same clause regarding payments to non-resident shareholders of a company who are liable to super-tax. This liability will merely attach to cases where the amount of profits or dividends payable to a non-resident partner or shareholder is in itself liable to super-tax on the assumption that it represents the whole income of such non-resident partner or shareholder. It does not appear feasible to insert any provision requiring the resident partner or representative of a firm to obtain from the non-resident partner a statement of any other income that may accrue to him in British India. In cases where there is reason to believe that there is such other income it will be necessary to rely on the provisions of clauses 42 and 43 of the Bill.

8. Difficulties have been experienced regarding the distribution of the tax in cases where there has been a change in the proprietorship of a business or profession. In clause 27 it is proposed to remove these difficulties by providing that the liability for the tax based on the income of the preceding year attaches to the business or profession itself and that the new owners are liable for the tax even although they were not owners for the whole of the time during which the profits on which the assessment is made were earned. This will apply whether the business or profession is owned by a single individual or by partners or by a company.

Machinery of assessment.

9. The income-tax authorities under the present law are the "Chief Revenue Authority," the "Commissioner," and the "Collector," designations adopted at a time when the whole of the income-tax work was done by the ordinary revenue staff in addition to their other duties. Owing to the increased employment of a whole-time staff for income-tax work, the use of these designations has given rise to considerable confusion, and it is proposed in the Bill that the income-tax authorities should have a nomenclature distinct from that of the land-revenue authorities. Chapter II of the Bill prescribes that the head of the income-tax department of a province shall be known as the Commissioner of Income-tax, the appellate authority as the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax, and the assessing authority as the Assessor. The appointment of the income-tax staff is under the present Act vested in Local Governments. Since under rule 3 read with item 52 of Schedule I of the Devolution Rules made under the Government of India Act, "matters pertaining to a Central subject in respect of which powers have been conferred by or under any law upon a Local Government" are a provincial subject, no question can be asked or discussion raised regarding such staff in the Central Legislature, but only in the Legislative Council of the province concerned. As the whole cost of the income-tax staff will in future be met by the Government of India, it is obviously desirable that all questions regarding such expenditure should be ventilated in the Central Legislature. References to the powers of the Local Governments are therefore omitted from the Bill, except that clause 5 (2) provides that the Commissioner of Income-tax in each province shall be appointed by the Government of India after consideration of any representations made by the Local Government. While the appointment and dismissal of the rest of the staff is vested by clause 5 (3) of the Bill in the Commissioner of each province "subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council," it is proposed to utilise the agency of the Local Government for the exercise of that control and to provide in the agency rules that such staff shall be appointed and dismissed by the Commissioner of Income-tax subject to the approval of the Local Government. Although the Local Governments will meet no share of the cost of the staff, the smooth and efficient working of the department will be a matter of no little concern to Local Governments; and it is considered that, though relieved of connection with the technical operations of the staff, they should have that measure of control which is indicated in the above proposals.

While the income-tax staff will as a rule be appointed in provincial cadres, there are certain classes of cases for which it may be advisable that assessments should be made by an all-India staff. Such for example are the cases of military officers and of officers of other departments serving directly under the Government of India who are liable to transfer throughout India. Suggestions have also been made that the assessment in special cases like railway companies might be made by an officer dealing with all such cases for the whole of India. In clause 5 (4) provision is made for the appointment of officers in such cases.

10. Hitherto, the making of rules under the Acts, the interpretation of such rules and the general administration of the Acts have been left to Local Governments. This has led to a diversity both in the provisions of the rules themselves and in the interpretation of those provisions, where similar, in different provinces, and clause 58 of the Bill therefore provides that all rules shall be made by the Government of India. Since the technical administration of the tax will be in the hands of the Government of India, clause 64 of the Bill provides that the Government of India may establish an authority to which it may delegate all or any of its powers under the Bill.

11. Under section 51 of the present Act a reference on a question of law may be made to the High Court only if the Chief Revenue Authority sees fit. The Chief Revenue Authority is not required to make any such reference on the application of an assessee if it is satisfied that the application is frivolous or that a reference is unnecessary. In clause 66 of the Bill it is proposed that the Commissioner of the Income-tax should no longer have power to withhold a reference on these grounds, but should be required to state a case to the High Court on the application of an assessee. In order to provide against frivolous and unnecessary applications, the clause contains a provision that every such application shall be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 100. In order to safeguard the revenue, the clause further provides that the fact that a case has been stated to the High Court shall in no way stop the collection of the tax from the assessee. An application for such reference may only be made after an appeal to the appellate income-tax authority has been disposed of. The head of the income-tax department retains the existing power to state a case to the High Court on his own motion.

12. Clause 53 amplifies the provisions of section 42 of the present Act in order to make more stringent the provisions relating to the disclosure of particulars regarding income-tax assessments. The present Act merely penalises the disclosure by a public servant of particulars contained in any statement or return furnished under the Act. Clause 53 further penalises the disclosure of any particulars contained in any accounts or documents produced under the Act or in any evidence given or deposition made in the course of proceedings under the Act or in any assessment record, and debars the Courts from requiring public servants to produce income-tax records or to give evidence respecting the same.

Procedure in regard to assessments and refunds.

13. The only extension of the system of collection at the source (apart from the case mentioned in paragraph 7 above) is in connection with the tax on salaries. While the present Act makes it obligatory on persons paying "salaries" to the employees of Government, a local authority, a company or other public body or association to deduct income-tax from such salaries at the time of payment, private employers are not required to do so unless they have entered into an agreement with the income-tax authorities. Clauses 7 and 19 (2) of the Bill extend the statutory obligation to all private employers.

14. Clauses 23, 24, 29, 30 and 60 contain several amendments designed to simplify the procedure in connection with assessments. The present Act, for example, makes it obligatory on the Collector to call for accounts where he considers that the return made by an assessee is in any way incorrect even although he may not consider it necessary to call for any accounts and may wish to dispose of a case by a personal interview with the assessee or his representative. Further, the Collector is at present debarred from calling for accounts unless he first of all declares that a statement is incorrect or incomplete. Again, the Collector is compelled under the present Act to require the personal attendance of an assessee, while one section of the Act provides that an assessee may only be represented by a pleader before the Chief Revenue Authority if he does not appear in person. The Bill provides that the assessor shall not be required to call for accounts whether he considers it necessary or not, but may call for accounts whenever he considers it necessary, that an assessee shall not be required to attend in person or by a pleader, but may at any stage of the assessment proceedings either attend in person or be represented by a person duly authorised by him in writing.

15. Under the present Act a person who has failed to make a return or failed to comply with the terms of a notice under section 18 to produce accounts, has no power to appeal against an order of assessment unless he satisfies the appellate authority that he has not wilfully or knowingly failed to make a return or to comply with the terms of a notice. The result of this procedure is that the assessee has to go to the appellate authority and obtain an order for the re-opening of the case. In clauses 29 and 30 it is proposed to alter this procedure and to provide that the assessee in such cases may, within one month after the service on him of a notice of demand, go to the assessor direct and, if he satisfies him that he was prevented by sufficient cause from making a return, or that he did not have a reasonable opportunity to comply with the terms of a notice, the assessor may cancel the assessment and proceed to make a fresh assessment.

16. Under the provisions of the present Act the assessment or re-assessment of income which has escaped taxation or has been taxed at too low a rate, the correction of a mistake, or an application for a refund must be made within one year from the end of the year to which the claim relates. This period has been found to be insufficient, and it is proposed in clauses 34, 35 and 49 of the Bill to extend the period to three years.

17. In order to simplify the procedure in connection with refunds, clauses 19 (9) and 21 make it obligatory upon persons deducting income-tax from interest on securities to issue to all security holders and upon companies distributing dividends to issue to shareholders, a certificate specifying the amount of tax deducted from the interest or paid or payable on the profits of the company. Rules relating to refunds at present are made by Local Governments and apply only to the provinces in respect of which they have been made. Further they usually provide that income-tax may only be refunded in the district in which the tax was actually paid. As stated in paragraph 10, it is proposed that all rules should be made by the Government of India, and in the refund rules it is proposed to provide that an assessee on production of the certificate aforesaid will be entitled to get a refund from the assessor of the district in which he is assessed, or of the district in which he resides if he is not assessed.

Relief from double income-tax.

18. Clause 48 of the Bill contains a provision for relief from double income-tax. At a conference between representatives of the Home Government and of the Dominions and of India an agreement was arrived at to the following effect: That in respect of income taxed both in the United Kingdom and in India there should be deducted from the appropriate rate of the United Kingdom income-tax (including super-tax) the whole of the rate of the Indian income-tax charged in respect of the same income, subject to the limitation that in no case should the maximum rate of relief given by the United Kingdom exceed one-half of the rate of the United Kingdom income-tax (including super-tax) to which the individual tax-payer might be liable and that any further relief necessary in order to confer on the tax-payer relief amounting in all to the lower of the two taxes (United Kingdom and India) should be given by India. That is to say, the proposal is that where income is liable to taxation both in the United Kingdom and in India it should pay only at the highest rate leviable in either country. These proposals have been accepted by the Government of the United Kingdom and are embodied in section 27 of the Finance Act of 1920. Under that provision a person whose income is assessed both in the United Kingdom and in India is entitled to claim from the authorities of the United Kingdom a refund or rebate of the the rate levied in India up to one-half of the English rate. Clause 48 of the Bill, therefore, provides that where any further relief is to be given in order to secure that such a person shall not pay a higher rate than the highest rate in either country, such relief will be given by India, subject to the limitation that the relief given in India shall not exceed half of the rate of income-tax and super-tax combined. At present the Indian rates of income-tax and super-tax combined are less than half of the rates in the United Kingdom, and therefore no loss will at the outset be incurred by Indian revenues from this arrangement. Loss will only be incurred where, owing to any alteration in the rates, the Indian rate is more than half the English rate, and the loss would merely be the amount by which the Indian rate exceeds half the English rate.

19. The Bill contains a number of other alterations in and additions to the present law. These are, where comment appears to be necessary, discussed in the Notes on Clauses appended to this statement.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 4 (2).—The tax has been evaded in cases of income arising or accruing out of British India and received in British India by bringing in the said income at intervals and claiming that as such income is not received in British India in the year in which it arises or accrues out of British India, it is, when brought into British India, not income but accumulated profits or savings or capital. This new sub-clause has been inserted to prevent such evasion.

Clause 4 (3).—Section 3 (2) (vii) of the present Act (viz., 'Legacies') has been omitted from the Bill, as it has been claimed that annuities granted under a will are exempt under this sub-clause. Lump sum annuities are covered by sub-clause vii) of the Bill. Sub-clause (xv) of section 3(2) of the present Act (viz., "Any perquisite or benefit which is neither money nor reasonably capable of being converted into money') has been omitted as the existence of this provision makes it impossible under the present law to assess to income-tax rent-free residences in cases where the assessee has not the power to sub-let, while rent-free residences are liable to the tax where the assessee has the power to sub-let.

Clause 9.—A change is made in this clause for the purpose of providing for the assessment of premises let for business and also for the assessment of such premises as wharves, mill yards, etc.

Clause 10 (2) (vi).—This clause provides that the rates of depreciation allowances approved of by the Government of India shall be fixed rates and not, as at present, maxima rates and shall apply to the whole of India. It further provides that depreciation at these rates shall be allowed every year when there are sufficient profits, and only the excess of the depreciation allowance over the profits shall be carried forward from year to year until absorbed, and that this practice must be followed whether the depreciation allowance is adjusted in the accounts of the assessee or not and irrespective of the amounts shown in the accounts.

Clause 16 (2).—This sub-clause and sub-clause (4) of clause 19 have been added in order to make it clear that where income-tax is deducted at the source, it is the gross amount of the income (including the tax deducted) which is to be taken into account in determining the rate at which an assessee should be liable to income-tax on the rest of his income and also his income for liability to super-tax.

Clause 19 (2).—An addition has been made here in order to allow of the rectification by the person deducting income-tax from salary of mistakes in any previous deduction.

Clause 31.—The words "and fixing such time for payment as he thinks fit" in section 22 of the present Act have been omitted, as they have given rise to confusion. Clause 44 of the Bill gives power to the assessor to determine the dates for payment.

Clause 33.—The provision of section 24 of the Act have been amended in order to make it clear that the penalty imposed under this sub-clause is not income-tax.

Clause 34.—An amendment has been made in order to make it clear that all that the assessor is required to do within the statutory period is to institute proceedings for the assessment or re-assessment.

Clause 35.—Amendments have been made in order to allow the assessor to rectify mistakes of his own motion as well as on the application of the assessee, to provide that he shall rectify his mistake when it is brought to his notice by an assessee, and to make it clear that the word "mistake" refers only to a mistake which is patent from the facts or documents which were before the assessor when he passed the original assessment order, and that this clause does not confer a general power of review or authorise any assessee to introduce new facts.

Clause 36.—This clause has been inserted, as it is proposed to eliminate fractions of an anna from public accounts.

Clause 38 (3)—This is a new provision empowering the assessor to require information to be given regarding specific payments shown in the accounts of an assessee where there is reason to believe that such payments will become liable to income-tax in the hands of the recipients.

Clause 42.—An addition has been made in sub-clause (1) in order to make it clear that a non-resident is liable to income-tax on receipts from property and interest on securities, as well as on receipts from business, and also that in cases where a non-resident deals direct with separate agents of separate branches in British India, the head of the income tax department of a province shall have power to require the accounts of all the different branches to be amalgamated in order to avoid a loss of revenue.

Clause 45.—Amendments have been made in order to differentiate between the power to impose and the power to collect a penalty and also in order to provide for the collection of income-tax by a separate income-tax agency, in the same way as municipal dues are collected, where a separate income-tax agency is entertained for this purpose and for the collection of income-tax through the revenue authorities in other cases.

Clause 47.—Changes have been made in sub-clause (2) of this clause for the purpose of making it clear that it is the amount of profits to which a partner is entitled, and not the amount of profits which he has actually removed from the possession of the firm which determines his personal liability to income-tax and his claim to a refund, while in sub-clause (3) an addition has been made to provide for the refund of income-tax to persons from whose salary income-tax has been deducted at too high a rate.

Clause 50 (d).—The provision in section 39 (d) of the present Act that a person who fails to attend when required by a notice under clause 21 commits an offence has been omitted.

Clause 52.—In view of the appointment of special income-tax staff, the power to sanction prosecutions has been removed from the assessor and conferred upon the appellate authority.

Chapter IX.—No change is proposed regarding the method of assessing and collecting super-tax other than the change in regard to unregistered firms referred to in paragraph 7 of the statement. The present Acts make the tax chargeable upon the "taxable income," but the definition of "taxable income" in section 3 of the Super-tax Act of 1920 is a somewhat confusing one and actually corresponds exactly to the definition of 'total income' in clause 16 of the Bill. It is therefore provided that the charge shall be on total income, and that the determination of total income for the purposes of income-tax shall be final and conclusive for the purposes of super-tax.

Clause 58.—Sub-clause (d) of section 43 (2) of the present Act which provides for rules being made to "provide for a system of composition of assessments and prescribe the conditions under which the assessor may enter into compositions with assessees as to their assessment" has been omitted as unnecessary.

Clause 62.—A slight change has been made in order to make it clear that a notice may be served in any of the manners provided for in the Code of Civil Procedure for the service of a summons

Clause 63.—This clause has been slightly amplified in order to reproduce the provisions in section 2 (5) of the present Act as to the place at which an assessee shall be assessed, and also in order to show that the reference to the Government of India is not obligatory under this clause, but need only be made where the heads of the department in the different provinces concerned are unable to come to an agreement.

Sub-clause (4) has been inserted in order to permit of inquiries being made into the profits of a branch business by the assessor of the place in which the branch is situated.

INDIA—WEST COAST.

Alleppey anchorage.

No. 384 (second publication).—The Principal Port Officer, Alleppey, has given Notice dated the 2nd September 1921 that vessels anchoring in the Alleppey Roadstead should take up a berth southward of the Pier with the flagstaff bearing about E. N. E., and as close in shore as possible, in order to obtain a quick despatch.

The littoral current, close in shore, sets to the southward, sometimes as strongly as two knots when a strong sea breeze is blowing with a flood tide, making it very difficult for cargo boats to reach steamers anchored in the Roads. Occasionally a return set to the north is experienced, but it is usually very feeble and of a short duration. The prevailing winds are from the W. N. W.

The bottom shoals gradually, and the depth of water in which to anchor should be decided according to the soundings obtained.

A mud-bank forms occasionally in the vicinity of the Pier, stretching along the coast for a few miles, giving perfectly smooth water, and exists on the date of this notice; caution is therefore necessary in approaching the shore.

The mud-bank may shift to the southward, or disappear altogether, at any time.

RESOLUTION.

The appended memorandum sets forth the views of the Government of India regarding the position of Indians in the Dominions, as placed before the Imperial Conference by the representatives of India.

Reciprocity Resolution of 1918.

The results of the Imperial War Conferences of 1917 and 1918 were embodied in the so-called Reciprocity Resolution, which provided as follows :—

(1) That each community of the British Commonwealth should enjoy complete control of the composition of its own population by means of restriction on immigration from any of the other communities.

(2) That facilities should be given for visits and temporary residence, except for labour purposes.

(3) That Indians already domiciled in the other British countries should be allowed to bring in their wives and minor children, provided that not more than one wife and her children should be admitted for each Indian.

(4) That the removal of the disabilities to which Indians already resident in other parts of the Empire were subjected should be given early consideration.

Question of removal of Indian disabilities.

2. From the Indian point of view the fourth provision was the most important. India was willing to admit into India any citizen of the British Commonwealth : she did not desire to exercise her reciprocal right of exclusion. India, again, imposed no disabilities on any citizen of the British Commonwealth ; she hoped that a reciprocal obligation would be recognised by other communities. By waiving her claim to free entry into the Dominions, India hoped to secure fair treatment for Indians who were already domiciled there. For example, as regards South Africa, such expectations were raised by General Smuts himself when he said at the Conference of 1917 : "I feel sure, and I have always felt sure, that once the white community in South Africa were rid of the fear that they were going to be flooded by unlimited immigration from India, all the other questions would be considered subsidiary, and would become easily and perfectly soluble."

Action taken by Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

3. The readiness and good-will shown by Canada and Australia in taking steps to carry out the reciprocity resolution under heads (2) and (3) are gratefully acknowledged. In New Zealand and Newfoundland Indians are subjected to no disabilities. It is regretted that New Zealand should recently have found it necessary to pass an Immigration Act which may be used to restrict further Indian immigration. But it is recognised that such restrictions are within the terms of the resolution of 1918 ; and in passing the Act New Zealand has shown a scrupulous anxiety to respect the obligations imposed by the resolution. The number of Indians already domiciled in Canada, Australia and New Zealand is comparatively small. Heading (4) of the reciprocity resolution had reference mainly to the disabilities suffered by Indians domiciled in South Africa.

Indian disabilities in South Africa.

4. In South Africa no steps have been taken to remove, or in any way alleviate, the disabilities which were enumerated in the memorandum presented by India at the Conference of 1918. On the contrary, the old Transvaal Law 3 of 1885, the repeal of which was then pressed, has been re-enacted by the Union Parliament in a more stringent form so as to prevent even the indirect ownership of fixed property by Indians. The difficulties of the Union Governments are recognised. But it has created a painful impression in India that this provision in the Bill, which passed as Act 37 of 1919, should have been originally due to theinitiative of the Minister of the Interior, who moved that the alleged evasion of Law 3 of 1885 should be included in the enquiry of the Select Committee which was appointed in March 1919. It has been found difficult to reconcile this action with the assurance given by the representative of South Africa at the 1918 Conference that the repeal of Law 3 of 1885 would be sympathetically considered by the Union Government.

Revival of anti-Indian agitation in South Africa.

5. The anti-Indian agitation in South Africa, which had subsided during the war, has in the last two years been revived and sedulously organised by an association known as the South Africans' League. The avowed object of this agitation is to repress the Indian settler by every possible means ; to restrict his trading, to prevent him from acquiring fixed property, to segregate him, and, if possible, to drive him out of the country. The Commission appointed last year by the Union Government which has recently reported, has found that the so-called Asiatic "menace" has been greatly exaggerated. Notwithstanding, the Commission has not recommended any relaxation of the existing restrictive laws, and by a majority has recommended that new restrictions should be imposed on the acquisition of of land by Indians in Natal.

India must be an equal partner in the Empire.

6. Now the Government of India desire strongly to impress upon the Imperial Cabinet how unfortunately an anti-Indian policy in any part of the Empire reacts in India itself. The national consciousness of India has been quickened by the part she played in the war, by the new ideas which have emerged as the result of the war, and of the Peace Conference, by her position as an original member of the League of Nations and by the advance which she has made in the last few months towards complete self-government. It is a bitter reflection that British Indians can be subjected within the British Empire to disabilities from which they would be protected in a foreign country by treaty rights or by the active intervention of His Majesty's Government. For example, the position of Indians in Portuguese East Africa is contrasted with their position in the adjoining Provinces of the Union. India cannot understand why the representations of her Government should carry less weight with the Government of a Dominion than with that of a foreign Power.

It is the desire of India to remain a partner in the British Commonwealth of Nations, but her own self-respect demands that the partnership should be equal. She cannot be expected to acquiesce in a position of permanent inferiority.

Equal partnership implies, as guiding principle, ultimate attainment of full rights by Indian in the Empire.

7. The essential conditions of equal partnership are the admission of British Indians to full rights of citizenship, in whatever part of the Empire they are domiciled. It is believed that the only final solution of the controversy which has for so long embittered the relations between India and other parts of the Empire will be found on these lines. The communities of British Indians legally domiciled in the Dominions would then be enabled to safeguard their own interests. But so long as any such community is not assimilated into the political and economic body of its country of domicile, and therefore has no certain means of securing the remedy of its grievances from the Government of that country, there can be no termination to this undesirable contention between different partners in the same Commonwealth of Nations. On the other hand, in New Zealand and in the Cape Province of the Union (where Cecil Rhodes' policy of "equal rights for every civilised man" still prevails) there is no Indian question in the sense in which it continually presents itself in countries where Indians do not possess the full citizen's ordinary means of representing his views and interests.

The Government of India have already admitted the right of each Dominion to impose such restrictions on immigration as may be necessary to secure the composition of its population on its own lines ; but they must claim for the Indians already domiciled in any Dominion the full rights of British citizenship. This involves changes in the existing laws of the Dominions which can only be brought about with the consent of a majority of the electorates, a process which necessarily takes time. But the longer the delay in consummating these changes the more the solidarity of the Empire is weakened, and the Government of India, therefore, wish to emphasise this point of view and would submit the resolution appended to this memorandum as embodying the case of India for this session of the Imperial Cabinet.

Necessity of mutual respect and understanding between India and the Dominions.

8. But equal partnership must also be based on mutual respect; and mutual respect implies mutual understanding. It is believed that the present estrangement is largely due to ignorance on both sides. It is an unfortunate fact that the Indian with whom other communities have chiefly come in contact has been the indentured labourer. A better understanding is difficult when, as in South Africa, "coolie" is a synonym for Indian. It is fair to India to say that indentured emigration has for many years been abhorrent to her. It is, perhaps, scarcely fair to India that a country which deliberately imported cheap Indian labour should protest that the Indian by reason of his low standard of living is an economic menace. However that may be, indentured emigration has now, by the efforts of India, been ended. Mutual understanding requires that, in its place, friendly intercourse between the educated classes should be encouraged.

9. In this and the following paragraphs certain definite suggestions are submitted for the consideration of the Imperial Cabinet:—

Suggestions—
(a) Encouragement of intercourse between the Dominions and India

(a) The resolution of 1918 provided for admission on reciprocal conditions for visits or temporary residence. But it is urged that something more is now required than the mere grant of facilities, which in practice may be neutralised by irksome delays and formalities. It should be as easy for an educated Indian to go to another part of the Empire, for a visit or temporary residence, as it is for any other British subject. Further than this, it is suggested that intercourse between India and other parts of the Empire should be actively encouraged. The free admission of Indian students to Universities in the Dominions was discussed at the last Conference; and the interest which Australia has taken in this question is gratefully acknowledged. Other avenues of rapprochement may be suggested. It is believed, for instance, that the interchange of parliamentary deputation, visits of Press delegates or Chambers of Commerce, would be productive of great good While the right of each community to control the composition of its own population is fully recognised it is hoped that with fuller knowledge the Dominions would not consider it incompatible with the development of their own civilisations to remove all obstacles in the way of the entry of educated Indians, especially those belonging to the professional classes.

Possibility of further discussion in India of the subject of this memorandum with Empire representatives.

In the event of a satisfactory solution of the very important question raised in this memorandum not being found at the meeting of the Imperial Cabinet, it might be considered whether the subject might not be further discussed at Delhi at a meeting of representatives of the Dominions chiefly concerned and of India. The Government of India have already pointed out that failure to solve this question on wise and statesmanlike lines may be attended with disastrous consequences to the solidarity of the Empire, and it is for this reason that they make the suggestion. They believe that a meeting such as they have suggested held in India during the session of the Indian Legislature might have most valuable results. Nothing but good could result from the visit to India, as the guests of India, of accredited representatives of the Dominions. It would enable Indians in general and the Members of the Legislature in particular better to appreciate the Dominions' point of view. On the other hand, the opportunity thus afforded to these representatives of watching the Indian Legislature at work and of a frank interchange of views with the Members of that Legislature would, the Government of India are confident, go far towards removing the misunderstandings and misconceptions which have so largely contributed to the unfortunate position into which a vital problem has been allowed to drift.

(b) Recognition of the obligation resting on the Dominions to promote the welfare of their Indian populations.

10. At the same time it is hoped that the Governments of Dominions will recognise a more definite obligation for the welfare of the Indians who are already domiciled there. It is suggested that the submerged Indians, who desire to return to their own country, should be assisted with free passages. It would be in the interests of everyone to uplift those who remain, and make them good citizens of the country of their adoption.

* NOTE.—The Legislature usually sits at Simla from the middle of August till the end of September and at Delhi in February and March.

(c) Appointment of agents of the Government of India in the Dominions.

11. A Bill was introduced at the last session of the Indian Legislature which will empower the Governor-General in Council, with the consent of the Government of the countries concerned, to appoint agents in countries where Indian settlers are numerous. It was suggested by Lord Sinha at the Conference of 1918 that the appointment of an agent of the Indian Government at Pretoria would be an advantage both to the Indians in South Africa and to the South African Government. It is hoped that the Governments of the countries concerned will now be willing to receive the agents of the Indian Government. Such agents would exercise quasi-consular functions. Their chief duties would be to maintain friendly relations, to remove causes of friction which in many cases, it is believed, are due to misunderstanding, and to work in co-operation with the Government of the country for the general upliftment of the Indian community.

(d) Full rights of citizenship for Indians Domiciled in the Dominions.

12. Finally the Government of India suggest that the Imperial Cabinet should recognise the validity of India's claim in regard to the grant of full rights of citizenship to Indians domiciled in the Dominions by means of the following Resolution :—

The Cabinet, while reaffirming the resolution of the Conference of 1918, that each community of the British Commonwealth should enjoy complete control of the composition of its own population by means of restriction on immigration from any of the other communities, recognises that there is an incongruity between the position of India as an equal member of the British Empire and the existence of disabilities upon British Indians lawfully domiciled in some other parts of the Empire. The Imperial Cabinet accordingly recommends as a matter of the most urgent importance in the interests of the solidarity of the British Commonwealth, the adoption of a policy of removing any disabilities under which such Indians are placed and making them good citizens of their country of domicile by merging them in the general body of citizens, in whatever part of the Empire they may be lawfully domiciled.

The official report of the proceedings of the Conference with reference to this memorandum is as follows :—

"The question of the position of British Indians in the Empire was discussed first at a plenary meeting when the representatives of India fully explained the situation and the views held in India on the subject. The question was then remitted to a special Committee under the chairmanship of the Secretary of State for the Colonies. At a final meeting on the subject the following Resolution was adopted :—

'The Conference, while reaffirming the Resolution of the Imperial War Conference of 1918, that each community of the British Commonwealth should enjoy complete control of the composition of its own population by means of restriction on immigration from any of the other communities, recognizes that there is an incongruity between the position of India as an equal member of the British Empire and the existence of disabilities upon British Indians lawfully domiciled in some other parts of the Empire. The Conference accordingly is of the opinion that in the interests of the solidarity of the British Commonwealth, it is desirable that the rights of such Indians to citizenship should be recognized.

'The representatives of South Africa regret their inability to accept this resolution in view of the exceptional circumstances of the greater part of the Union.

'The representatives of India, while expressing their appreciation of the acceptance of the resolution recorded above, feel bound to place on record their profound concern at the position of Indians in South Africa, and their hope that by negotiation between the Governments of India and of South Africa, some way can be found, as soon as may be, to reach a more satisfactory position.'"

The following remarks regarding the status of Indians in the Dominions were made by Mr. Shastri and Mr. Churchill at the Conference :—

Mr. Shastri said :—

"There is another subject of great importance which I must mention—that is the status enjoyed by Indians in the Dominions of the British Empire. In noble words you described this Empire, Sir, as a Confederation of Races into which willing and free peoples had been admitted—willing and free peoples; consent is incongruous with inequality of races and freedom necessarily implies admission of all people to the rights of citizenship without reservation In impressive and far-seeing words the Prime Minister of South Africa alluded to the establishment of everlasting peace. Peace means a stable and unalterable relationship between communities—based on honourable equality and recognition of equality of status. To embody this ideal, there are deductions from it now in actual practice; we are going to submit, I mean our Indian Delegation, for the consideration of this Cabinet, a resolution, the terms of which I understand have already been communicated to you. This is a resolution that will be regarded in India as the test by which the whole position must be judged. I won't say more than that. It is of supreme importance that that subject should be considered and disposed of satisfactorily at this meeting, and it is of the most urgent and pressing importance that we should be enable to carry back a message of hope and of good cheer. There is no conviction more strongly in our minds than this, that a full enjoyment of citizenship within the British Empire applies, not only to the United Kingdom, but to every self-governing Dominion within its compass. We have already, Sir, as you are aware, agreed to a subtraction from the integrity of the rights of the compromise of 1918 to which my predecessor, Lord Sinha, was a party, that each Dominion and each self-governing part of the Empire should be free to regulate the composition of its population by suitable immigration laws. On that compromise there is no intention whatever to go back, but we plead on behalf of those who are already fully domiciled in the various self-governing Dominions according to the laws under which those Dominions are governed—to these people there is no reason whatever to deny the full rights of citizenship, it is for them that we plead, where they are lawfully settled, they must be admitted into the general body of citizenship and no deduction must be made from the rights that other British subjects enjoy. It is my unfortunate part to have drawn prominent attention to what we consider a great defect in the present arrangements. It may seem to be of comparatively trifling importance to the other issues we have to consider. I only plead that there should be no occasion for small bickerings, no occasion for mutual recriminations amongst us. We have great tasks. Let little things be got out of the way. I only wish that all our common energies should be bent towards realizing more and more with the Empire and extending further and further outside the British Empire those generous ideals of progress to which, Sir, you gave such inspiring and, if I may say so, such alluring expression yesterday."

Mr. Churchill said :—

"Now, I have only one other topic which I wish to refer to because I do not want to trespass too long on the attention of the Conference. It was raised by Mr. Srinivasa Sastri this morning, the question of the Indian settlers in some of our Colonies, and no doubt that problem also occurs in South Africa to a certain extent. I think there is only one ideal that the British Empire can set before itself in this regard, and that is that there should be no barrier of race, colour, or creed which should prevent any man by merit from reaching any station if he is fitted for it. At any rate I do not feel able to adopt any lesser statement of principle in regard to the Colonies, but such a principle has to be very carefully and gradually applied because intense local feelings are excited, and there is no doubt that extraordinary social stresses arise when populations are intimately mingled in some of these new countries and brought into severe economic competition. The question reaches its most acute form in Kenya.

These matters are now being discussed, and I hope to find a means of overcoming difficulties in the application of the broad principles."

ORDERED that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

INDIA—WEST COAST.

Alleppey anchorage.

No. 384 (third publication).—The Principal Port Officer, Alleppey, has given Notice dated the 2nd September 1921 that vessels anchoring in the Alleppey Roadstead should take up a berth southward of the Pier with the flagstaff bearing about E. N. E., and as close in shore as possible, in order to obtain a quick despatch.

The littoral current, close in shore, sets to the southward, sometimes as strongly as two knots when a strong sea breeze is blowing with a flood tide, making it very difficult for cargo boats to reach steamers anchored in the Roads. Occasionally a return set to the north is experienced, but it is usually very feeble and of a short duration. The prevailing winds are from the W. N. W.

The bottom shoals gradually, and the depth of water in which to anchor should be decided according to the soundings obtained.

A mud-bank forms occasionally in the vicinity of the Pier, stretching along the coast for a few miles, giving perfectly smooth water, and exists on the date of this notice; caution is therefore necessary in approaching the shore.

The mud-bank may shift to the southward, or disappear altogether, at any time.

A. E. HAROLD, CAPTAIN, D.S.O., R.I.M.,
Port Officer of Calcutta.
